Solon Pledges No Circus Act In Viet Probe

U.S. Involvement To Be Explored By Senate Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J.W. Fulbright says "we are not trying to put on a circus" with the Senate hearings which re-open today on the U.S. involvement in Viet Nam.

Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat who heads the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said "these public hearings will continue as long as they are fruitful."

He told newsmen witnesses will testify before his committee by invitation only.

Fulbright said there are no immediate plans to recall Secretary of State Dean Rusk to the stand, but added he would be "very surprised if the committee feels it is through questioning the secretary of state."

At the moment, said Fulbright, "I have no burning questions to ask him."

Fulbright and several members of the committee had many burning questions to ask Rusk when he testified last week. They fired questions at him for four hours, focusing on how the United States got involved in the Viet Nam war and how it hopes (Continued on Page 2)

Union Shop Cloture Vote Is Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana filed today a cloture petition calling for an end to the filibuster against the union shop bill.

The petition was signed by 22 Democrats and one Republican, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y. It brings a vote automatically next Tuesday on the debate-limiting procedure.

Mansfield said Thursday that if this attempt fails he planned to file another petition Tuesday. This would trigger a second cloture vote Thursday.

The filibuster, now in its 11th day, has blocked Mansfield's efforts to bring before the Senate a bill to amend Section 14B of the Taft-Hartley law. The section allows states to outlaw union shop contracts under which covered employees must join the union. Nineteen states have such bans.

Opponents of the bill were confident that they would be able to defeat cloture as easily as they did last October when Mansfield tried it during the first floor fight on the same legislation.

The measure's supporters conceded that they did not see how the required two-thirds could be mustered to choke off the filibuster.

Last October cloture got 45 votes while 47 senators opposed it. Thus it was 17 short of the 62 that would have been required.

3 Die as Plane Rips into Houses

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A twin-engine plane smashed into a group of homes Thursday, killing a 2-year-old boy and two occupants of the plane and injuring seven other persons.

The pilot was identified as Hal Haines of Phoenix. His body and that of a woman passenger were recovered from the wreckage. Authorities today were attempting to identify the woman.

The dead boy was Michael Muniz, whose family lived in one of the wrecked homes, which are near Sky Harbor Airport.

The plane, a Lockheed Neptune known during World War II as a P2V, was making an approach to the airport when it dipped into the South Phoenix neighborhood, slicing through tree houses and coming to rest on a fourth, demolishing it.

FIGHTER WRECKAGE — Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff (right) surveys wreckage of a jet fighter plane that crashed Thursday afternoon on the Jay Hay poultry farm in Walnut Twp. Also looking over the area is an unidentified officer from Lockbourne Air Force Base.

Jet Falls, Pilot Ejects to Safety

Capt. Joseph W. Criswell, 32, an Air National Guard pilot, parachuted to safety Thursday afternoon only seconds before his plane crashed and burned on the Jay Hay farm in Walnut Twp., four miles east of Ashville.

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department received word of the crash at 2:37 p.m. Twenty-one minutes later Deputy Homer Adams was at the scene and radioed that the pilot was unharmed.

Capt. Criswell told Adams he and Jarvis T. McEntee, another pilot, left Lockbourne at 2:15 yesterday on a routine training flight to Camp Atterbury, Ind. Both are with the Air National Guard's 121st Tactical Fighter Command.

White Plans Legal Fight For Ballot

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Because the secretary of state "got too technical all at once," William L. White of Mt. Vernon plans a legal fight to get on the ballot to oppose Gov. James Rhodes.

White, informed Thursday by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown that he could not run for the Republican nomination for governor, said he still had a "secret weapon" for his campaign, providing he gets on the ballot.

Brown ruled that White, a commercial rabbit raiser, did not have a minimum of 1,000 valid signatures from 30 counties on his nominating petitions. "It's an outrage," White told Brown, after storming into the statehouse. White vowed to seek a court order requiring Brown to qualify him as an opponent of Rhodes.

Brown had ruled that of 1,438 signatures white obtained in 50 counties, only 953 were determined valid by local election boards. "I got 826 signatures in Knox County personally," White later told newsmen.

He also said he had personally filed in addressed and dated for some signers. This violates election laws. "I didn't know it was against the law. It was the same way I have done it in four campaigns," he said.

White ran as a Republican for governor in 1948 and 1962, state senator in 1960, Congress in 1964 and as a Democrat for U.S. senator in 1960 living in Newark.

ing south at an altitude of about 2,500 feet when Criswell's plane developed engine trouble about 15 or 20 miles north of the Ohio River.

Both pilots circled their aircrafts back toward Lockbourne, but the damaged plane began losing altitude. About five miles south of Lockbourne, the plane was at a height of 1,500 feet when base authorities ordered Criswell to abandon the craft. Base officials said 1,200 feet is the minimum altitude to eject safely.

The jet crashed about 150 yards from the Hay farms poultry building. Glenn Hay witnessed the crash.

Wreckage was scattered about 900 feet, according to Deputy Adams. He reported the pilot landed about 700 feet south of the plane's main impact area.

Married, Criswell is the father of five children. One of his first acts was to call his family to inform them he was safe.

Lockbourne officials investigating the wreck said the trouble apparently developed from a stalled compressor in the engine. The plane was carrying rockets and other ammunition.

In addition to the local sheriff's department, authorities from the State Highway Patrol were at the scene investigating the crash, as well as U.S. Air Force officials.

Retarded Children Prepare Half Ton Of Seeds for Viets

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — Farmers in South Viet Nam will be sent half a ton of vegetable seeds late this month — thanks to retarded children at the Rainier State School in Buckley, Wash.

The seed packets had been mixed with flower seed packets in 100 sacks of left-over 1965 seeds donated to the State Highway Department by the Lily Seed Co.

Sgt. Albert Thierry, who is in South Viet Nam, wrote his wife, a teacher at the school, describing the urgent needs of Vietnamese farmers for seed.

The children, who can not read, separated the packets of seeds by hand after being shown pictures of the various kinds. Junior Chambers of Commerce in the area agreed to ship the seeds from Seattle, Feb. 16.

Ohio County Hiring Setup Is Challenged

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — A suit filed by the Ohio Civil Service Employees Association challenges hiring practices of virtually all Ohio county governments.

The suit filed Thursday attacks only procedures in Delaware County, but a decision in the test case in common pleas court here could be applied to other counties.

Nelson Watkins, executive secretary of the association in whose name the suit was filed, said all Ohio counties except Hamilton have been violating state Civil Service laws for 50 years.

Counties, he said, have "hired promoted, fired and laid off" employees without following state laws.

The suit specifically asks that the Delaware County auditor be compelled to submit all county payrolls to the state before salaries are paid.

Watkins said elected county officials, by law, may appoint only three personal employees outside Civil Service rules and those employees serving in a fiduciary capacity—a position of trust and confidence.

Brothers, 15 and 16, Indicted in Stabbing

CADIZ, Ohio (AP) — Two teenage brothers were indicted by the Harrison County Grand Jury Thursday on first-degree murder charges in the fatal stabbing of a grocer last November.

Fifteen-year-old James Lam bert and his brother, Ralph, 16, of Leesville, are charged with the stabbing of Byron Bucey, 66, in the back room of his store in Bowerston.

Plumbing for Heart Is Perfected

CHICAGO (AP) — Surgeons are leaping ahead with bold and brilliant new "plumbing" inside the human heart.

It is plumbing in the sense of putting in new "pipes" to feed blood into disabled hearts, or in cleaning out rusted natural pipes.

And it has come along so well a California heart specialist said today that now it could be possible to bring relief to perhaps half of the millions of people suffering from crippled hearts.

Further, said one pioneering surgeon from Canada, new techniques should soon make it possible to predict blood flow to any part of the faltering heart. New or improved surgical techniques were described to the American College of Cardiologists, with initial results called encouraging.

The need for the plumbing is simple. The heart is a muscular pump whose walls get nourishing blood through four coronary arteries and their many branches.

When these become clogged with fatty "rust," heart attacks or painful or crippling attacks of angina ensue. Tissues once fed through a natural pipeline may die.

The surgical solution is sometimes to clean out the rusted pipes or — more and more — to put in some new piping, in ingenious ways. Now it is possible to pinpoint the locations of blocked arteries, and then to choose what kind of plumbing will help the individual patients so that half might benefit, said Dr. James A. McEachen and associates from Saint John's Hospital, Santa Monica, Calif.

Dr. Arthur Vineberg of Royal Victoria Hospital in Canada said a goal, now in sight, is capability to redirect the blood flow by combined methods so that any or all blocked arteries are in effect bypassed.

Sixteen years ago, he developed a technique of cutting an artery in the chest — the left internal mammary artery — and inserting its freed end into tunnels created inside the heart muscle. The muscle then quickly develops small blood channels to distribute this extra blood.

Results have been improved by also removing some of the heart's lining, and covering part of the heart with a remarkable tissue from the abdomen — the momentum—which acts to bring more blood to the heart tissue, said Dr. Vineberg.

Now he also is trying to use the right mammary artery to reach the right side of the heart for 100 per cent coverage.

U.S. Mounts Intensified Air Strikes

5 Planes Are Lost In Renewed Action Against North Viet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. jets struck North Viet Nam with mounting intensity today, but two more American planes were reported lost in the renewed air war and a U.S. helicopter went down in South Viet Nam.

Ground action in South Viet Nam dwindled to only light sporadic action against minor Viet Cong units. Operation Masher, the big Allied drive on the central coast led by the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division took on a new name — Operation White Wing — and a new and as yet unannounced objective.

The two planes lost in North Viet Nam raised the number of jets downed to five since the resumption of the air attacks five days ago. U.S. officials list four airmen as missing.

A twin-jet A5A Vigilante from the carrier Kitty Hawk was crippled by ground fire Thursday and crashed two miles off shore about 35 miles northeast of Vinh, a U.S. spokesman said. Rescue craft spotted the Vigilante's life rafts aboard two Communist boats leaving the area. The two crewmen were listed as missing in action.

U.S. officials belatedly announced that an A4 Skyhawk from the carrier Ranger was written off as lost and its pilot missing in action after it disappeared into cloud cover on Tuesday.

The crews of the two other U.S. planes lost earlier were rescued by helicopter. Hanoi Radio claimed North Vietnamese gunners shot down five U.S. jets Thursday and captured several American pilots.

Maryland To OK Women in Guard

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Legislation has been introduced to make it legal for women to volunteer for the Maryland National Guard.

But you needn't start lining up, girls.

Adj. Gen. George M. Gelston said Thursday the administration-sponsored bill is primarily intended to legalize the present status of 15 nurses assigned to duty in the Guard and make Maryland's law conform with federal statutes.

It also will clear the way for WACs to serve in the state militia if the proposed merger of the Army Reserve and the National Guard goes through.

Yi Dynasty Is Ended

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — The 500-year Yi dynasty of Korea ended Thursday with the death of its last queen, Yumbi, who suffered a heart attack. She was the 72-year-old widow of King of Soongjong who died in 1926.

Fire Claims Life Of Elderly Man

FATAL FIRE — Circleville Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe inspects ruins of the small house in which Millard Christy was burned to death. Cause of fire is believed to have been an exploding kerosene cooking stove, part of which can be seen just to the right of Chief Wolfe.

Fire Thursday night claimed the life of Millard Christy, a 77-year-old Circleville resident who lived by himself in a trailer at 303 W. Mount St.

The Circleville Fire Department received a call at 11:05 p. m. from Mrs. Jack Brown, a neighbor. She said the trailer was in flames.

Mrs. Brown told firemen she believed the elderly man was still in the trailer.

Christy was last seen alive at about 10:20 p. m. when John Robinson, manager of the local cab company, had taken him home.

ROBINSON told firemen Christy had a bag of groceries and a can of kerosene in his possession at the time.

Firemen believe the blaze started as Christy attempted to fill an old fashioned kerosene cooking stove with the fuel. Evidence indicated the stove had exploded.

Firemen battled the blaze for more than 90 minutes before dousing it. They used 750 gallons of water.

At about the same time the fire started, Robinson had called the Pickaway County Sheriff's office, advising them it might be wise to check on Christy.

A retired farmer, Mr. Christy was born in Amanda Oct. 28, 1888, the son of Charles and Martha Griffith Christy.

He is survived by two sons, Chester W. Christy, Columbus; Pearl M. Christy, Kansas City, Kan.; two brothers, Willard R. Christy, Roydon; Albert Christy, Amanda; one sister, Mrs. Mary Madden, Amanda.

FUNERAL services will be 1 p. m. Monday at the Mader Funeral Home. Burial will be in Amanda Twp. Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 1 p. m. Sunday.

Fatal Fire First Here Since 1955

The death of Millard Christy in a trailer fire late Thursday night marks the first time since 1955 a local resident has been burned to death.

Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe commented today that when he first joined the department there seemed to be more deaths in fires.

The chief feels more modern and safer heating and cooking facilities have contributed to the comparatively low death rate in recent years.

He pointed out that people "don't start fires with kerosene much anymore. He said many of the old fashioned fuel oil cooking and heating stoves are not in use now.

THE LAST death in a fire here was Jan. 15, 1955, when John Grubb, lost his life in a frame house fire at 343 E. Ohio St.

Talmer Wise, who was Circleville fire chief at that time, theorized that blaze may have been caused by exploding kerosene.

Grubb, an 82-year-old retired farmer, lived by himself, as did Christy.

Lunar Landing Draws Praise

Spacecraft Said Scanning Landscape

MOSCOW (AP) — Luna 9, the Soviet mechanical moon pioneer, has transmitted to earth pictures of the lunar landscape, Tass reported today.

An announcement distributed by the official Soviet news agency gave no indication when the picture would be made public. It would be the first ever transmitted directly from the moon's surface to earth. Earlier Soviet and American pictures were sent from spacecraft above the moon.

Luna 9 "has begun scanning the lunar landscape and transmitting it to the earth's surface," the announcement said.

Prof. Nikolai Barabashov, an astronomer connected with the lunar probes, predicted "safe landings on the moon of manned interplanetary ships in the near future."

Barabashov told Tass the most important achievement of Luna 9 was proof that the moon's surface is not covered with deep drifts of dust that could engulf a spacecraft. He pointed out Luna 9 had to land on a solid surface or it would have been unable to transmit radio signals back to earth.

The space vehicle landed Thursday in an area of the moon that will be in direct sunlight for almost two weeks. This would permit a number of pictures to be sent, if Luna 9 continues working properly and sunlight can power its batteries.

The announcement, made 20 hours after Luna 9's landing, said "transmission of the lunar landscape was carried out on command from earth."

Before this announcement, the Russians had been characteristically silent about information received from the mechanical pioneer sitting on the plain named the Ocean of Storms, though the British Radio Observatory at Jodrell Bank said Luna 9 had transmitted radio information and pictures.

The official Soviet news agency Tass said: "Radio contact with the station on the surface of the moon is reliable. Transmissions are on 183.538 megacycles. The instruments on board the station are functioning normally."

There was no official word on the size, shape, construction or weight of the spacecraft but it is thought to weigh more than 3,000 pounds.

Jodrell Bank said Luna 9 transmitted facsimile pictures from its landing at 9:45 p.m. (Continued on Page 2)

Funds Okayed For Project At Logan Elm

Logan Elm School District has received approval for a remedial reading project, it was announced today by John Henn, executive head.

The Logan Elm district becomes the first in the area to have a project approved under Title 1 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965.

Henn said that $16,535.02 in federal funds have been made available. The project will be started in the district's three elementary schools as soon as teachers are obtained.

Briton Calls Soviet Moon Photographs 'Sensational'

JODRELL BANK, England (AP) — The radiotelescope observatory here announced today it is receiving sensational pictures of the moon from the Soviet Luna 9 satellite. They show individual rocks on the moon's surface, a spokesman said.

Signals from the moon rocket, which made history's first soft landing on the moon Thursday, were fed into a facsimile machine. After technicians worked out the focus, they got a picture showing rocks, a flat surface and the shadow of the space ship itself.

Sir Bernard Lovell, director of the observatory and a veteran of tracking space probes, called them "the most sensational pictures we have ever had at Jodrell Bank."

Hailing the Soviet feat, the director of the Jodrell Bank Radio Observatory said the soft landing Thursday already had provided valuable details on the surface of the moon.

"The fact that the television transmissions began a few minutes after the landing would indicate that the probe had landed on a hard surface without encountering any great depths of dust," he said.

This is important because a man landing on the moon must know its surface is firm enough to hold the space vehicle. If it was at any great depth it would swallow a space craft.

Lovell also said the Russians' next space spectacular could be the landing of a remotely controlled tractor-type vehicle on the moon. This vehicle could move about and take detailed pictures of the lunar surface. Its movements would be controlled from earth.

Another possibility in the near future, he said, was that soft landing vehicles might carry a subsidiary rocket that would be automatically launched from the moon's surface.

"The other step which must now be considered possible is that the Russians will in the reasonably near future send a man into the orbit of a lunar trajectory to orbit the moon without landing and return to earth," he added.

Prof. J. G. Davies at Jodrell Bank has compiled a graph showing the rocket's final approach to the moon in Thursday's landing. Davies said it indicated that the rocket was traveling at no more than 10 to 20 feet per second at it made its landing.

A twin-jet A5A Vigilante from the carrier Kitty Hawk was crippled by ground fire Thursday and crashed two miles off shore about 35 miles northeast of Vinh, a U.S. spokesman said. Rescue craft spotted the Vigilante's life rafts aboard two Communist boats leaving the area. The two crewmen were listed as missing in action.

U.S. officials belatedly announced that an A4 Skyhawk from the carrier Ranger was written off as lost and its pilot missing in action after it disappeared into cloud cover on Tuesday.

The crews of the two other U.S. planes lost earlier were rescued by helicopter.

Hanoi Radio claimed North Vietnamese gunners shot down five U.S. jets Thursday and captured several American pilots.

Maryland To OK Women in Guard

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Legislation has been introduced to make it legal for women to volunteer for the Maryland National Guard.

But you needn't start lining up, girls.

Adj. Gen. George M. Gelston said Thursday the administration-sponsored bill is primarily intended to legalize the present status of 15 nurses assigned to duty in the Guard and make Maryland's law conform with federal statutes.

It also will clear the way for WACs to serve in the state militia if the proposed merger of the Army Reserve and the National Guard goes through.

Yi Dynasty Is Ended

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — The 500-year Yi dynasty of Korea ended Thursday with the death of its last queen, Yumbi, who suffered a heart attack. She was the 72-year-old widow of King of Soongjong who died in 1926.

Fire Claims Life Of Elderly Man

FATAL FIRE — Circleville Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe inspects ruins of the small house in which Millard Christy was burned to death. Cause of fire is believed to have been an exploding kerosene cooking stove, part of which can be seen just to the right of Chief Wolfe.

Fire Thursday night claimed the life of Millard Christy, a 77-year-old Circleville resident who lived by himself in a trailer at 303 W. Mound St.

The Circleville Fire Department received a call at 11:05 p. m. from Mrs. Jack Brown, a neighbor. She said the trailer was in flames.

Mrs. Brown told firemen she believed the elderly man was still in the trailer.

Christy was last seen alive at about 10:20 p. m. when John Robinson, manager of the local cab company, had taken him home.

ROBINSON told firemen Christy had a bag of groceries and a can of kerosene in his possession at the time.

Firemen believe the blaze started as Christy attempted to fill an old fashioned kerosene cooking stove with the fuel. Evidence indicated the stove had exploded.

Firemen battled the blaze for more than 90 minutes before dousing it. They used 750 gallons of water.

At about the same time the fire started, Robinson had called the Pickaway County Sheriff's office, advising them it might be wise to check on Christy.

A retired farmer, Mr. Christy was born in Amanda Oct. 28, 1888, the son of Charles and Martha Griffith Christy.

He is survived by two sons, Chester W. Christy, Columbus; Pearl M. Christy, Kansas City, Kan.; two brothers, Willard R. Christy, Royalton; Albert Christy, Amanda; one sister, Mrs. Mary Madden, Amanda.

FUNERAL services will be 1 p. m. Monday at the Mader Funeral Home. Burial will be in Amanda Twp. Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 1 p. m. Sunday.

THE LAST death in a fire here was Jan. 15, 1955, when John Grubb, lost his life in a frame house fire at 343 E. Ohio St.

Talmer Wise, who was Circleville fire chief at that time, theorized that blaze may have been caused by exploding kerosene.

Grubb, an 82-year-old retired farmer, lived by himself, as did Christy.

Lunar Landing Draws Praise

Spacecraft Said Scanning Landscape

MOSCOW (AP)—Luna 9, the Soviet mechanical moon pioneer, has transmitted to earth pictures of the lunar landscape, Tass reported today.

An announcement distributed by the official Soviet news agency gave no indication when the picture would be made public. It would be the first ever transmitted directly from the moon's surface to earth. Earlier Soviet and American pictures were sent from spacecraft above the moon.

Luna 9 "has begun scanning the lunar landscape and transmitting it to the earth's surface," the announcement said.

Prof. Nikolai Barabashov, an astronomer connected with the lunar probes, predicted "safe landings on the moon of manned interplanetary ships in the near future."

Barabashov told Tass the most important achievement of Luna 9 was proof that the moon's surface is not covered with deep drifts of dust that could engulf a spacecraft. He pointed out Luna 9 had to land on a solid surface or it would have been unable to transmit radio signals back to earth.

The space vehicle landed Thursday in an area of the moon that will be in direct sunlight for almost two weeks. This would permit a number of pictures to be sent, if Luna 9 continues working properly and sunlight can power its batteries.

The announcement, made 20 hours after Luna 9's landing, said "transmission of the lunar landscape was carried out on command from earth."

Before this announcement, the Russians had been characteristically silent about information received from the mechanical pioneer sitting on the plain named the Ocean of Storms, though the British Radio Observatory at Jodrell Bank said Luna 9 had transmitted radio information and pictures.

The official Soviet news agency Tass said: "Radio contact with the station on the surface of the moon is reliable. Transmissions are on 183.538 megacycles. The instruments on board the station are functioning normally."

There was no official word on the size, shape, construction or weight of the spacecraft but it is thought to weigh more than 3,000 pounds.

Jodrell Bank said Luna 9 transmitted facsimile pictures from its landing at 9:45 p.m.

Funds Okayed For Project At Logan Elm

Logan Elm School District has received approval for a remedial reading project, it was announced today by John Henn, executive head.

The Logan Elm district becomes the first in the area to have a project approved under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965.

Henn said that $16,535.02 in federal funds have been made available. The project will be started in the district's three elementary schools as soon as teachers are obtained.

Briton Calls Soviet Moon Photographs 'Sensational'

JODRELL BANK, England (AP)—The radiotelescope observatory here announced today it is receiving sensational pictures of the moon from the Soviet Luna 9 satellite. They show individual rocks on the moon's surface, a spokesman said.

Signals from the moon rocket, which made history's first soft landing on the moon Thursday, were fed into a facsimile machine. After technicians worked out the focus, they got a picture showing rocks, a flat surface and the shadow of the space ship itself.

Sir Bernard Lovell, director of the observatory and a veteran of tracking space probes, called them "the most sensational pictures we have ever had at Jodrell Bank."

Hailing the Soviet feat, the director of the Jodrell Bank Radio Observatory said the soft landing Thursday already had provided valuable details on the surface of the moon.

"The fact that the television transmissions began a few minutes after the landing would indicate that the probe had landed on a hard surface without encountering any great depths of dust," he said.

This is important because a man landing on the moon must know its surface is firm enough to hold the space vehicle. If dust was at any great depth it would swallow a space craft.

Lovell also said the Russians' next space spectacular could be the landing of a remotely controlled tractor-type vehicle on the moon. This vehicle could move about and take detailed pictures of the lunar surface. Its movements would be controlled from earth.

Another possibility in the near future, he said, was that soft landing vehicles might carry a subsidiary rocket that would be automatically launched from the moon's surface.

"The other step which must now be considered possible is that the Russians will in the reasonably near future send a man into the orbit of a lunar trajectory to orbit the moon without landing and return to earth," he added.

Prof. J. G. Davies at Jodrell Bank has compiled a graph showing the rocket's final approach to the moon in Thursday's landing. Davies said it indicated that the rocket was traveling at no more than 10 to 20 feet per second at it made its landing.

Antarctica Is Labeled 'Most Beautiful' of All

By BESSIE C. SWEENEY

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
ABOARD THE SS LA PA-TAIA (AP) — I have traveled all over the world and seen many countries, people and customs. But for many years my dream had been to visit Antarctica, the continent which until now has been open only to the explorer.

My son, Ed Sweeney, who is also the president of the Explorers Club, has a mountain range named after him in Edith Ronne Land.

I am now 86 years old and I had resigned myself to never being able to see that icy continent which covers the area around the South Pole. Then I learned that Lars-Eric Lindblad was planning an expedition to Antarctica which would be available to tourists.

I was the first to sign up.

Now we are nearing the end of our Antarctic tourist expedition and I have been able to see some of the most beautiful parts of that frozen continent in all their glory. The ice, the glaciers, the fabulous mountain peaks, penguins, antarctic birds — and even the sea elephants and sea leopards.

I can say without hesitation that Antarctica is the most beautiful part of the world. I can say the trip through the Le Maire Strait in splendid sunshine is the highlight of all my travels around the world, and my fellow travelers agree with me on this.

I have also been fortunate enough to be allowed to see for myself how the scientists of Argentina, Britain and the United States work in the fields of marine biology, meteorology and other sciences.

I have been able to go ashore at such famous Antarctic landmarks as Melchior, Almirante Brown, Goussac, Deception Island, Hope Bay. I can say I navigated the Weddell Sea and stopped over at such places as Potter Cove and Half Moon.

We have had cold days with strong winds. Thanks to the clothing provided, I have always been warm and have not suffered frostbite or worse things—as did the early Antarctic explorers.

One of the highlights of the trip for me was holding a penguin in my arms, stroking his chest and observing him relax and even enjoy being petted.

I also rode through the snow and ice on a snowcat at the Argentine army base at Hope Bay where we also had the opportunity to travel on dogsleds.

I have also been able to see for myself some of the dangers of Antarctic exploration. The

Walnut Twp. Farmer Seeks Assembly Seat

A Pickaway Countian has entered the political race for a seat in the state legislature, representing the newly created 21st district.

EVERETT R. BEERS

Everett R. Beers, Route 2, Ashville, has filed petitions with the Ross County Board of Elections as a Republican candidate for the nomination at the May primary election.

Beers, a Walnut Twp. farmer, will have opposition for the GOP nomination. Leon E. Winget, Route 1, Chillicothe, is also seeking the party nomination.

Roy H. Huffer Jr., local attorney, is now serving as Pickaway County's Representative to the State legislature. Huffer decided not to seek re-election when Pickaway was joined with Ross County to form the new 21st district.

Beers was unsuccessful in his bid for the state legislative post in 1964. He lost the GOP nomination to D. E. McDonald, who was in turn defeated at the polls in November by Huffer.

The GOP candidate is a native of Pickaway County. He served 3½ years in the U. S. Air Force during World War II and six years on the American Red Cross Board. He is a member of the Teays Valley Board of Education.

Beers is married to the former Eloise Hay. They have three children. The family belongs to the Hedges Chapel Methodist Church where Beers holds a lay speaker's license.

The Pickaway candidate filed his petitions in Ross County in accord with provisions requiring such action be taken in the county with the greater population.

pack ice, for example. I watched it close in around our ship in the Antarctic Straits, forcing us to leave immediately or get imprisoned.

Then I saw it again, crowding us threateningly deep in the Weddell Sea, at the edge of the Antarctic Circle, which we could not penetrate because of the dangers it posed.

We have been constantly escorted by the Navy tug Irigoyen, and the Argentine icebreaker San Martin has never been far away, always watching over us. We visited the San Martin once, and we were the first outsiders to meet with the Argentine team of army officers who traveled by snowcats and dog teams to the South Pole and back.

So at 86 I have seen Antarctica.

Next I will be going to the North Pole, and then I will be back down here — in the Antarctic ice.

Lunar Landing

Moscow time (1:45 p.m. EST) until 10:05, went off the air, and resumed signals shortly after midnight (9 p.m. EST). The British scientists had no means of unscrambling the signals.

Congratulations from heads of states around the world started to pour into Moscow as soon as the landing was announced.

"Your accomplishment is one that can benefit all mankind and all mankind applauds it," said President Johnson in a message to President Nikolai Podgorny.

After an initial reaction that Luna 9's soft landing put the Soviet Union ahead of the United States in the space race, Western experts amended their views, saying each nation is ahead in different phases.

Sir Bernard Lovell, director of the Jodrell Bank Observatory, said the race to put a man on the moon is "still fairly even now" between the United States and the Soviet Union.

"The Soviet Union has gone ahead in the techniques of soft landing," he said. "The Americans already achieved the other feature of rendezvous in space. Both countries now have one each to their credit."

Lovell's first reaction Thursday was the soft landing put the Russians ahead in the space race.

U.S. space officials at Cape Kennedy, Fla., praised the Soviet success and conceded it gave the Soviets a lead in this phase of the race to put a man on the moon.

The Soviet Union announced four unsuccessful attempts to soft-land a spacecraft on the moon prior to Luna 9. But U.S. space experts said the Soviets made at least three additional tries.

The Soviets were the first to crash-land a rocket on the moon in September 1959. The following month they sent a space station around the moon that sent back photographs of its far side, never before seen by man.

The United States also crash-landed a picture-taking satellite on the moon, but not until July 31, 1964. This was Ranger 7 which sent back the most complete series of pictures taken of the moon.

An earlier U.S. attempt, Ranger 6, hit the moon Feb. 2, 1964, but its cameras did not work.

Gavin said he had not recommended withdrawal of U.S. ground forces to a few enclaves along the coast of South Viet Nam. "I'm talking about staying where we are, I didn't say we should withdraw," he told newsmen.

Gavin said he had read some remarks by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor who discussed Viet Nam in a New York speech Thursday. Taylor, former ambassador to Saigon and now a special adviser to the President, totally rejected the "enclave strategy" for Viet Nam. Without mentioning Gavin by name, he said such a strategy would amount to "a crushing defeat of international proportions" for the United States and a victory for Hanoi-Peking.

Gavin said "we aren't talking about the same thing." He said that when he talked about enclaves "I could have said several areas where we have an air base, a seaport and troops."

Taylor gave his views in a speech to the City Club of New York. Another New York speaker was Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who spoke at a program marking the United Service Organization's 25th anniversary.

Humphrey said the United States can use its "almost limitless" military power to achieve limited goals while continuing the search for Viet Nam negotiations. He said the United States cannot permit the struggle against Communist expansion "to become purely military, either in Viet Nam or elsewhere." He added, "We must counter the Communist political thrust with better politics — the politics of democracy, of self determination, of human dignity."

At that time, Fulbright told Rusk "I have been in Congress quite a long time, and I don't recall any issue about which there is so much apprehension."

Officially, the open hearing is on a request by President Johnson for $415 million in additional economic aid for the remainder of the fiscal year which ends next June 30. South Viet Nam would get $275 million of that total.

Retired Army Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway and Retired Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin have been mentioned as possible witnesses.

Antarctica Is Labeled 'Most Beautiful' of All

By BESSIE C. SWEENEY
Written for
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
ABOARD THE SS LA PATAILA (AP) — I have traveled all over the world and seen many countries, people and customs. But for many years my dream had been to visit Antarctica, the continent which until now has been open only to the explorer.

My son, Ed Sweeney, who is also the president of the Explorers Club, has a mountain range named after him in Edith Ronne Land.

I am now 86 years old and I had resigned myself to never being able to see that icy continent which covers the area around the South Pole. Then I learned that Lars-Eric Lindblad was planning an expedition to Antarctica which would be available to tourists.

I was the first to sign up. Now we are nearing the end of our Antarctic tourist expedition and I have been able to see some of the most beautiful parts of that frozen continent in all their glory. The ice, the glaciers, the fabulous mountain peaks, penguins, antarctic birds — and even the sea elephants and sea leopards.

I can say without hesitation that Antarctica is the most beautiful part of the world. I can say the trip through the Le Maire Strait in splendid sunshine is the highlight of all my travels around the world, and my fellow travelers agree with me on this.

I have also been fortunate enough to be allowed to see for myself how the scientists of Argentina, Britain and the United States work in the fields of marine biology, meteorology and other sciences.

I have been able to go ashore at such famous Antarctic landmarks as Melchior, Almirante Brown, Gourassac, Deception Island, Hope Bay. I can say I navigated the Weddell Sea and stopped over at such places as Potter Cove and Half Moon.

We have had cold days with strong winds. Thanks to the clothing provided, I have all-ways been warm and have not suffered frostbite or worse things—as did the early Antarctic explorers.

One of the highlights of the trip for me was holding a penguin in my arms, stroking his chest and observing him relax and even enjoy being petted.

I also rode through the snow and ice on a snowcat at the Argentine army base at Hope Bay where we also had the opportunity to travel on dogsleds.

I have also been able to see for myself some of the dangers of Antarctic exploration. The pack ice, for example. I watched it close in around our ship in the Antarctic Straits, forcing us to leave immediately or get imprisoned.

Then I saw it again, crowding us threateningly deep in the Weddell Sea, at the edge of the Antarctic Circle, which we could not penetrate because of the dangers it posed.

We have been constantly escorted by the Navy tug Irigoyen, and the Argentine icebreaker San Martin has never been far away, always watching over us. We visited the San Martin once, and we were the first outsiders to meet with the Argentine team of army officers who traveled by snowcats and dog teams to the South Pole and back.

So at 86 I have seen Antarctica.

Next I will be going to the North Pole, and then I will be back down here — in the Antarctic ice.

Walnut Twp. Farmer Seeks Assembly Seat

A Pickaway Countian has entered the political race for a seat in the state legislature, representing the newly created 21st district.

EVERETT R. BEERS
Everett R. Beers, Route 2, Ashville, has filed petitions with the Ross County Board of Elections as a Republican candidate for the nomination at the May primary election.

Beers, a Walnut Twp. farmer, will have opposition for the GOP nomination. Leon E. Winget, Route 1, Chillicothe, is also seeking the party nomination.

Roy H. Huffer Jr., local attorney, is now serving as Pickaway County's Representative to the State legislature. Huffer decided not to seek re-election when Pickaway was joined with Ross County to form the new 21st district.

Beers was unsuccessful in his bid for the state legislative post in 1964. He lost the GOP nomination to D. E. McDonald, who was in turn defeated at the polls in November by Huffer.

The GOP candidate is a native of Pickaway County. He served 3½ years in the U.S. Air Force during World War II and six years on the American Red Cross Board. He is a member of the Teays Valley Board of Education.

Beers is married to the former Eloise Hay. They have three children. The family belongs to the Hedges Chapel Methodist Church where Beers holds a lay speaker's license.

The Pickaway candidate filed his petitions in Ross County in accord with provisions requiring such action be taken in the county with the greater population.

At that time, Fulbright told Rusk "I have been in Congress quite a long time, and I don't recall any issue about which there is so much apprehension."

Officially, the open hearing is on a request by President Johnson for $415 million in additional economic aid for the remainder of the fiscal year which ends next June 30. South Viet Nam would get $275 million of that total.

Retired Army Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway and Retired Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin have been mentioned as possible witnesses.

Clarifying his views on Viet Nam, Gavin told a Boston news conference Thursday he thought Johnson's decision to resume the bombing of North Vietnamese targets was "absolutely sound."

Gavin said he had not recommended withdrawal of U.S. ground forces to a few enclaves along the coast of South Viet Nam. "I'm talking about staying where we are, I didn't say we should withdraw," he told newsmen.

Gavin said he had read some remarks by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor who discussed Viet Nam in a New York speech Thursday. Taylor, former ambassador to Saigon and now a special adviser to the President, totally rejected the "enclave strategy" for Viet Nam. Without mentioning Gavin by name, he said such a strategy would amount to "a crushing defeat of international proportions" for the United States and a victory for Hanoi-Peking.

Gavin said "we aren't talking about the same thing." He said that when he talked about enclaves "I could have said several areas where we have an air base, a seaport and troops."

Taylor gave his views in a speech to the City Club of New York. Another New York speaker was Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who spoke at a program marking the United Service Organization's 25th anniversary.

Humphrey said the United States can use its "almost limitless" military power to achieve limited goals while continuing the search for Viet Nam negotiations. He said the United States cannot permit the struggle against Communist expansion to become purely military, either in Viet Nam or elsewhere.

"We must counter the Communist political thrust with better politics — the politics of democracy, of self determination, of human dignity," he said.

Huge Egyptian Temple Moved

ABU SIMBEL, Egypt (AP)—The colossal temples of Abu Simbel have been hewn from the ancient home and the front of Abu Simbel Mountain looks newly shaven.

For 32 centuries the statues of King Ramses II, his queen Nefertari and an assortment of gods and sacred birds looked upon sunrise across the Nile. Then they had to be moved to escape rising waters due to building of the Aswan Dam.

Salvage experts cut the twin temples into 950 chunks, weighing 20 to 30 tons each, and transported them to storage areas. Two years from now, reassembled, the king and the others will be greeting the sunrise from higher ground.

History has many tales of Ramses' fondness for dismembering his war captives. Today the swashbuckling Ramses, the beautiful Nefertari, the arrogant sun god Amon-Ra and the god Ptah are strewn about the ground, dismembered and helpless. The baffling smirk on Ramses' face is still there.

In 1958 the Egyptian government announced it was going ahead with building the Aswan Dam which would create behind it the largest man-made lake in the world. Annual floods of the Nile threatened to submerge the entire Nubian desert and inundate the towering temples of Abu Simbel along with 26 other temples, churches and sanctuaries.

UNESCO—the U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization—launched a "now or never" campaign urging nations of the world to rescue the Nubian monuments. The United States and Egypt are bearing

Free Freeway Gas Plan Is Paying Off

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—The Washington State Patrol's "free gas on the freeway" program is returning dividends.

Patrol cars equipped with special pumps patrol the Seattle Freeway and dole out gas to motorists who have run out. The troopers cannot accept money but hand out preaddressed envelopes. More than 400 motorists have been assisted.

Patrol Chief Will Bachofner said Wednesday the patrol has more than broken even with quite a few persons sending in checks for $5, more than the value of the gas received.

most of the $36 million cost.

Serious work began three years ago with a thorough excavation of the two temples. A cofferdam was built to shield the temples. The Nile flooded twice, but work went smoothly behind the temporary dam.

When cutting started last year, a few explosives charges were used to remove the upper part of the mountain topping the two temples. Then, with electronically guided saws, chisels and other tools, Italian experts cut the huge monuments in what was termed the greatest archeological surgery in history.

The cofferdam will be flooded in August, but by then the whole operation will have been shifted to the temples' new site, above the reach of the waters.

State Peppers Defense Claim

Mossler Murder Trial Takes Shape

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The state lost no time in coming to grips with the defense contention that Jacques Mossler's murder may have been the result of weird sexual habits.

State Atty. Richard Gerstein Thursday asked one of his own witnesses at the first-degree murder trial of Mossler's widow, Candace, and her nephew, Melvin Lane Powers: "Did it ever occur to you that Jacques was a little bit effeminate?"

"Never," replied the witness, Howard B. Walker, for 21 years an executive in Mossler's $33-million banking and loan empire.

"Was Mr. Mossler a homosexual?" Gerstein asked point blank in a crowded Dade County Circuit Court room.

"To my knowledge, no," said Walker, a tanned man with thin brown hair who is manager of the Miami branch of the Allen-Parker Co., a Mossler-owned auto finance firm.

Only a half-day court session was planned today before an all male jury in Judge George Schulz' courtroom. The state plans to call laboratory experts who examined the Key Biscayne surroundings after the Mossler, 69, was bludgeoned and knifed to death June 30, 1964.

Candy Mossler, a small, shapely blonde who gives her age as 39, and Powers, a brawny, darkly handsome 29, are on trial for their lives. The state claims they plotted Mossler's murder for his money and to further "a sordid, illicit love affair."

In his opening statement, Powers' chief defense attorney, a colorful Texan with steel grey hair, Percy Foreman, told the jury that "there was not a conceivable sexual deviation in all psychiatry that Mossler did not have."

The import of the accusation, Foreman explained, was that Mossler could have been the victim of a homosexual companion on the night he met violent death in his apartment while his pet dog barked in frantic protest.

Ohio May Get Another Federal District Judge

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two additional federal district judgeships would be created in Ohio under House Judiciary Committee recommendations. Nationwide, the committee approved Thursday an increment of 45 federal judges in a measure similar to one passed by the Senate last year.

NE Drought Continues Despite 2 Storms

NEW YORK (AP)—The nation's Eastern swath of earth becomes progressively more dry. Experts blame it on the baffling, prolonged shifts of currents in the upper sky.

Since 1961, the Northeast has endured accumulating drought, an ailment now stretching farther south. The weathermen ascribe it, tentatively, to puzzling deviations of the "jet stream" high above.

And few signs yet appear of when, or if, the desiccating trend will end—despite the recent blizzard that left most of the East under a heavy blanket of white.

Already the drought has dried up wells, depleted reservoirs, pushed water tables slowly down, lowered rivers, stunted annual crops and, in towns and cities, stirred a gathering anxiety.

Similar to other recent troubles—blackouts, frigid weather, strikes and transit strain—it saps the country's most immensely populated ground. Nature, in this case, not men or apparatus, has occasioned it.

But engineering counter-measures have begun in many places to develop extra sources of that prime essential—water.

The five-year problem reaches through New England, New York State, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and increasingly, southward into Delaware, Virginia and the Carolinas. Recent bitter Southern cold adds another freakish note.

The water situation is "very grim," says Malcolm Graf, director of the Massachusetts Water Resources Commission. "It's critical," says Carl Gerken, assistant county agent in Virginia's northern half. "It looks as if it will continue critical."

Normally, snow begins to spread into the Northeast in late November and early December. But this year, for example, New York City didn't get its first measurable snowfall until Jan. 23.

New York City's acting water chieftain, Herman Forster, said "I can't see at this moment anything happy in the picture." Geological surveys he added, indicate another drought this year—the sixth successively.

And still, mysteriously, that flowing band of high, thin air, blowing strongest 30,000 feet above the land, continues to behave abnormally, veering off its path across the East, making weathermen suspect it as the trouble's cause.

When will it resume its ordinary course? "We just don't know," said

Dr. Murray Mitchell Jr., of the Weather Bureau, Washington, D.C., and a noted specialist on long-range weather trends. "We keep expecting it to come back to normal, but it doesn't."

Usually, the jet stream blows across the country, west to east, accompanied by storms which drop their rain and snow. But it has started dipping southward in the West, then sweeping north across the middle of the country, and onward into Canada, missing much of the U.S. Northeast.

Since it shifted, the Midwest has had more moisture than usual, and a rising crop production, Mitchell said. But, he says, "it's different in the Northeast"—and the difference hurts.

What has caused the upper winds to stray?

"I just don't know," said Mitchell. "And I don't think anybody knows. If we knew the answer maybe we'd be better forecasters."

A drought emergency, declared six months ago by the Delaware River Basin Commission, embracing Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey and Delaware with the federal government as a partner, remains in effect.

Reservoirs supplying metropolitan New York were around 40 per cent of capacity this month, about 190 billion gallons, compared to a normal 75 per cent of capacity at this time, or 359 billion gallons.

Construction of a pumping station at Chelsea, N.Y., capable of drawing 100 million gallons daily out of the Hudson River into the New York City system, was expected to be completed this spring.

Precipitation remained below normal. The deficiency below the usual amount totals more than 50 inches.

It's "almost unbelievable" how little snow has fallen over the upstate watershed this season, Forster said. Even the blizzard which whipped across the region last weekend dumped only a little more than half an inch of water on the reservoirs.

He said New Yorkers may face even greater restrictions than last year, when bans were clamped on lawn watering, fountains and swimming pools, and tight curbs on air-conditioning systems. Restaurants with held drinking water, unless asked, and people were urged to take quick showers instead of baths.

In Pennsylvania, after four straight summer-long droughts, Weather Bureau officials say the real danger is the subnormal moisture—or lack of it. And they say it will take a lot more snow or "We won't have any moisture to fall back on this spring."

In Massachusetts, Graf said, "even well-designed water systems are feeling the pinch."

The same troubles hit as far south as Virginia, especially its northern and central parts, where numerous wells have gone dry. In many areas of the state the past year has been the driest since the drought of 1930. Nathaniel Tilden, director of markets of the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture, said that if the water tables keep going down, even fruit and vegetable growers who irrigate their crops won't have enough water for irrigation.

County Court Clears Docket Of 43 Cases

Forty-three cases were disposed of during the first month of the new year by Pickaway County Common Pleas Court. At the outset of 1966 there were 230 cases pending action in the court. Thirty new cases were filed and with disposition made on 43, there were 217 pending action on Feb. 1.

Cases cleared from the docket in January included 15 divorces, 12 other civil suits and 16 criminal matters. Pending action at the end of the month were 82 divorces, 118 civil suits and 17 criminal matters.

Of the cases disposed of, 16 were tried to court, two were before a jury, seven were cognovit and default judgments and 18 were settled or dismissed.

No new cases were filed for the Fourth District Court of Appeals, leaving four cases on the docket pending action.

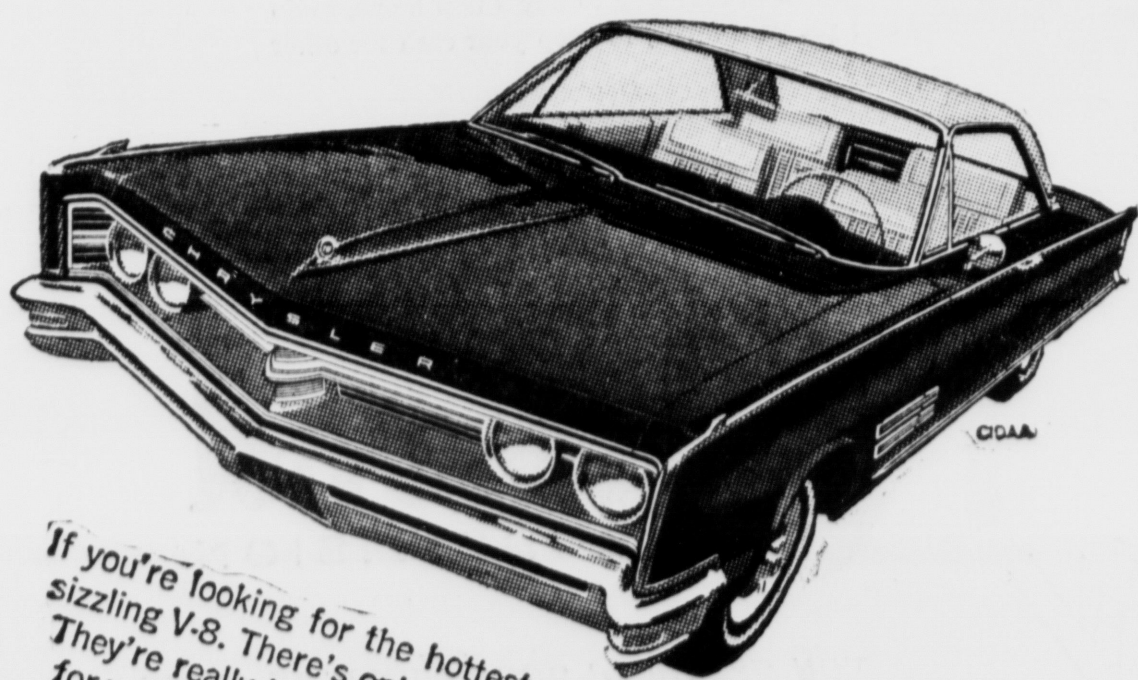

Parachutist Plans Daring Feat Again

SIOUX FALLS, S.D. (AP)—Parachutist Nick Piantanida is convinced more than ever man can free-fall faster than the speed of sound, although a frozen piece of equipment fouled his attempt to prove it.

He said he would try again as soon as he could raise money and winter ends. Piantanida went higher into the stratosphere than man has ever gone in a balloon—123,500 feet. But he had to come down with the balloon's gondola in southwestern Minnesota Wednesday when he couldn't uncouple a piece of oxygen equipment that had frozen during his ascent.

He had planned to fall a record 22 miles before opening his parachute.

De Gaulle's Price

Though France has returned to the Common Market for a two-day ministerial meeting, the crisis within the community remains unresolved. The chief issue dividing France from the five other member-nations is the veto power which Gen. de Gaulle wants made permanent.

But the Treaty of Rome, under which the market was organized, stipulates that beginning this year, decisions are to be made by majority vote. While the ministers hope for a compromise that will end France's boycott, the general is not the yielding type, especially when what he believes to be France's sovereign rights are involved.

Furthermore, if Gen. de Gaulle has hinted of a willingness to change his mind about permitting Great Britain's entrance into the Common Market, it may be because the British are as reluctant as the general to surrender an iota of sovereignty.

Life Is Muffled in February

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Let us make snowballs together and throw them at time.

What else is there to do? It is February. The year is in cocoon.

In February, everything's in the deep freeze, paused and postponed.

The groundhog emerges, takes a yawning look at the wintry sky, crawls back into his den and starts snoring again.

Nothing grows on the suburban lawn, neither the forbidden crabgrass nor the hardy legions of the dandelion, whose yellow banners are still furled.

The ceiling of earth, the floor of heaven, is as leaden and gray as a dying face.

In February the noses of old men drip and their eyes are rheumy; the cheeks of children are chapped and red, and their noses are runny.

The pulse of life is muffled in February. Everything creaks, grinds, whines, sobs, groans or squeaks. People are grouchy and grumbly.

Nature itself is quiet. The owl glides toward its prey on silent feathers as its talons reach for the straining rabbit. All that is heard in the everlasting hills are the sounds of snapping iceladen branches and the everlasting wails of skiers with broken limbs.

What else is wrong with February? Well, let's see:

If you are paid by the week, it has the fewest paydays of any month on the calendar. It is also the month with the fewest rain-bows.

Few men get raises or promotions in February. No matter how well you do your job the boss doesn't notice it. He's down in Florida or the Bahamas playing golf.

All you have to do is to sneeze in a crowded bus and you make 46 mortal enemies.

In February you can't even go on a successful diet. The cold makes you too hungry.

It is true that St. Valentine's Day, the anniversary of true lovers, falls in February. But if you send her a sentimental card she is likely to freeze up, too, and remain unthawed until June. She can't wear a card on her engagement finger.

So come, let us make snowballs together and throw them at time.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — Is there a good chance of more federal tax increases this year? Administration leaders are saying "yes and no." Some banking leaders are saying flatly that the chance is good that higher taxes will be needed if inflation is to be curbed. Mere talk of possibly higher taxes sent a chill through the stock market.

Most taxpayers already expect to pay more this year, no matter how the question of still higher levies is resolved.

This is because many are paying more taxes at the state or local level. Workers and their employers are paying increased Social Security taxes. Most observers expect Congress to rescind the excise tax cuts that went into effect Jan. 1.

And Congress seems likely to make tax collections higher this year from individuals and corporations by stepping up the time of payment. Thus, many individuals would have their federal income tax withholding increased, so that their take-home pay is smaller. And corporations would be paying this fall what they might not have paid till a year from now.

But the question being discussed in Congress and in administration circles is: Will tax increases in addition to the above be necessary? And when?

The need might arise if: 1. The Viet Nam war cost should increase rapidly following a breakdown in further peace moves; or 2. Inflation turns from a threat to a reality.

For most housewives and shoppers, inflation already is thought of as a reality. Prices have been going up on many goods and services. It costs considerably more to keep the family in its accustomed standard of living than it did a year ago, most shoppers will tell you.

The inflation threat that Washington talks about is how likely the pressure on wages and prices is to set off a spiral like that of the 1950s. The administration says its guidelines can prevent this.

Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler says that on the basis of the present situation in Viet Nam and the still moderate, if accelerating, rise in the cost of living he doesn't see any need now for a tax boost beyond those already acted. But he adds that his department has in progress "contingency planning" for such an increase.

Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, says that the exceptional uncertainties of 1966 might make a tax hike necessary and that he expects Congress to act quickly if inflation becomes a real threat or defense spending rises still more than presently planned in the 1967 budget.

"Consider me a dropout."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Will you please, in one of your future columns, give a brief rundown on diabetes? There are three members of my family. Two sisters that were recently discovered to be thus afflicted, and a younger brother who has been under treatment for some for about five years. An older brother, now deceased, was also a diabetic.

Is this disease hereditary? All the aforementioned were and are overweight.

Thank you for the anticipated information.

B. M. P., California
Dear Mr. P.: A brief rundown on diabetes would be:

1. Diabetes may be hereditary.

2. Diabetes is easily diagnosed.

3. Diabetes can be controlled.

4. Diabetes must be uncovered to be treated.

Your family history of diabetes verifies the hereditary nature of this disease. There is no doubt that people in whose family there is diabetes have a greater chance of becoming diabetic. The laws of heredity definitely apply to diabetes.

If two diabetics marry, all of their children will probably become diabetics.

Diabetes tends to occur somewhat more frequently in women than in men.

There is an undeniable relationship between diabetes and overweight. Your own observation about your diabetic sisters and brothers is in keeping with this known medical fact. Almost 80 per cent of all newly discovered diabetics are found to be overweight.

I am certain that your concern is that you will inevitably develop diabetes. You may not. Yet, the wisest approach would be to be tested by the definite medical means now available.

Examination of the urine for sugar and sugar tolerance tests of the blood are easily done.

If diabetes is found, the patient is usually classified in one of four groups.

Group 1 includes those diabetic patients who can be controlled with diet, and with restricted intake of sugars.

Group 2 are diabetics who need rigid control with a diabetic diet.

Group 3 includes those who require less than 30 units of insulin. Many in this group can also be kept in balance with the newer antidiabetic drugs.

Group 4 includes those with the more severe types of diabetes. These cases need more than 30 units of insulin besides a rigid diet.

When diabetes is discovered and faithfully treated the diabetic can live a healthy, normal and productive life.

To discover diabetes at the earliest possible time is the ultimate aim of all educational campaigns.

The American Diabetic Association has enlisted many forces in extending its Diabetes Detection Week to an all year round project.

In an effort to bring diabetes into the open some of the symptoms are given. It must be emphasized that any listing of symptoms serves to cause anxiety in those who fearfully misconstrue that they "have all the symptoms they read about."

The clinical symptoms of excessive thirst, excessive hunger, excessive urination, fatigue, a sense of weakness and loss of weight makes physicians suspect diabetes.

If, in addition, there is a tingling sensation of the fingers and toes, itching of the skin and a poor healing tendency for cuts and bruises, the possibility of diabetes is increased.

Self-diagnosis is at best a guess that has no validity. Find out by examination.

Portent in Republican Sky

By John Chamberlain

HARRISBURG, Pa. — The Republican Party may be in a bad way nationally, but in Pennsylvania it is already squared off for the 1966 state election with scarcely a cloud in the sky. The main reason is that the State's tall, friendly and incredibly hard-working Lieutenant Governor, Raymond P. Shafer, a man with a rangy George Romney look, has managed to lock up the right to the Republican nomination for governor to succeed Bill Scranton while all the other aspirants were busy talking.

The Shafer achievement must be reckoned as one of the slickest operations ever carried out. In the first week in January they were saying in Harrisburg that there was no "leading candidate" and that Governor Scranton still had options in picking his successor. But by the second week in the New Year, Scranton, who had sounded out the state through his personal trips and those of his State Chairman Craig Truax, was ready to give Shafer his blessing. Shafer had it anyway. All that remained to be done was to induce the other contenders to settle for lesser spots on the ticket.

So the Pennsylvania Republicans have "unity," forced by a methodical campaigner who knew how to get it. They also have a candidate who upholds the "conservative with a heart" theory that the objectives of the "Great Society" can be achieved by methods that will not by-pass either the State capitals or local communities. The pitch in Harrisburg is that the Republicans under Scranton have beaten the Federal Democrats to it in making Pennsylvania prosperous and in setting up programs designed to clean up rivers, save the land from strip mine uglification, and provide good education for every community.

The Pennsylvania Republicans have statistical cards to trump Johnson's aces. When Democrat David Lawrence was Governor, state unemployment was 7.4 per cent compared to a national 5.3 per cent. But for seven straight months in 1965 the state rate dropped below the national average. More than a hundred thousand persons had left the relief rolls under Scranton to find gainful employment. The gains, no doubt, were due in some part to national prosperity. But, as a salesman who had helped attract some eight hundred new plants to Pennsylvania in 1964 and 1965, Scranton is in a position to say he "played it that way." Under a Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority (Pida), which stood ready to grant loans for factory construction in areas where unemployment ran over six per cent, the state has had its own depressed areas program.

It has also had its own equivalent of the federal Department of Urban Affairs type of forward planning. Democrats in Philadelphia will tell you that Shafer, a small-town man from Meadville and Allegheny College in the northwestern part of the State, is the secret weapon of what has been called "the squirearchy," which for years allegedly kept the Republicans from recognizing the problems arising from the mid-twentieth century urbanization of the nation. But the Democratic criticism does not reckon with the fact that Shafer, as head of his party's legislative policy committee and chairman of a provisional Council on Community Affairs, has played a big part in the creation of a new state cabinet — level Department of Community Affairs. This will be the State counter to the new Department of Urban Affairs in Washington.

To sell the Department of Community Affairs and other elements of the Scranton program, Shafer had carte blanche to visit all sixty-seven counties of the state. Touching base four or five times in most of them, Shafer built his own formidable organization. The public announcement of his candidacy was made through formal channels on a Monday, but he had sent prior notice to 440,000 Pennsylvanians in a huge mailing on the previous Saturday. It could be that Scranton had already settled on Shafer, who happens to have been a Yale law school classmate of poverty fighter Sargent Shriver, Republican House Leader Gerald Ford, Senator Peter Dominick, and Supreme Court Justice Potter Stewart and "Whizzer" White. But Shafer had made it on his own.

He will be a formidable bet to keep at least one northeast industrial state in the Republican column.

De Gaulle's Price

Though France has returned to the Common Market for a two-day ministerial meeting, the crisis within the community remains unresolved. The chief issue dividing France from the five other member-nations is the veto power which Gen. de Gaulle wants made permanent.

But the Treaty of Rome, under which the market was organized, stipulates that beginning this year, decisions are to be made by majority vote. While the ministers hope for a compromise that will end France's boycott, the general is not the yielding type, especially when what he believes to be France's sovereign rights are involved.

Furthermore, if Gen. de Gaulle has hinted of a willingness to change his mind about permitting Great Britain's entrance into the Common Market, it may be because the British are as reluctant as the general to surrender an iota of sovereignty.

Life Is Muffled in February

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Let us make snowballs together and throw them at time.

What else is there to do? It is February. The year is in cocoon.

In February, everything's in the deep freeze, paused and postponed. The groundhog emerges, takes a yawning look at the wintry sky, crawls back into his den and starts snoring again.

Nothing grows on the suburban lawn, neither the forbidden crabgrass nor the hardy legions of the dandelion, whose yellow banners are still furled.

The ceiling of earth, the floor of heaven, is as leaden and gray as a dying face.

In February the noses of old men drip and their eyes are rheumy; the cheeks of children are chapped and red, and their noses are runny.

The pulse of life is muffled in February. Everything creaks, grinds, whines, sobs, groans or squeaks. People are grouchy and grumbly.

Nature itself is quiet. The owl glides toward its prey on silent feathers as its talons reach for the straining rabbit. All that is heard in the everlasting hills are the sounds of snapping ice-laden branches and the everlasting walls of skiers with broken limbs.

What else is wrong with February? Well, let's see:

If you are paid by the week, it has the fewest paydays of any month on the calendar. It is also the month with the fewest rainbow. Few men get raises or promotions in February. No matter how well you do your job the boss doesn't notice it. He's down in Florida or the Bahamas playing golf.

All you have to do is to sneeze in a crowded bus and you make 46 mortal enemies.

In February you can't even go on a successful diet. The cold makes you too hungry.

It is true that St. Valentine's Day, the anniversary of true love, falls in February. But if you send her a sentimental card she is likely to freeze up, too, and remain unthawed until June. She can't wear a card on her engagement finger.

So come, let us make snowballs together and throw them at time.

NEW YORK (AP) — Is there a good chance of more federal tax increases this year? Administration leaders are saying "yes and no."

Some banking leaders are saying flatly that the chance is good that higher taxes will be needed if inflation is to be curbed. Mere talk of possibly higher taxes sent a chill through the stock market.

Most taxpayers already expect to pay more this year, no matter how the question of still higher levies is resolved.

This is because many are paying more taxes at the state or local level. Workers and their employers are paying increased Social Security taxes. Most observers expect Congress to rescind the excise tax cuts that went into effect Jan. 1.

Censorship Try at OSU Is Deplored

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Any attempt to coerce or censor the Ohio State University student newspaper would be "most unwise," the chairman of the journalism school's professional advisory council said today.

Porter said he was pleased to read a Jan. 21 comment by University President Novice G. Fawcett "that he did not intend any coercion of the Lantern through budget review."

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—The world's only teen-age queen, a native of the chill north, has settled happily into her adopted Mediterranean kingdom and says she wants a large family.

Queen Anne-Marie, wife of King Constantine II of Greece, will turn 20 next August.

"I feel completely at home," the former Danish princess said in her first interview since her marriage to the king brought her to Greece 17 months ago. "Though Denmark is greener, Greece has its beauty, sun and warmth."

Anne-Marie speaks English, French and Danish and is striving to learn Greek.

"I take lessons almost every afternoon now," she said. "It is difficult and I understand more than I can speak. At home the king and I speak to each other in English."

She is sure 6-month-old Crown Princess Alexia will have no trouble with languages.

"Alexia will grow up to be a linguist," she said with pride. "The king speaks to her in Greek and English and I in Danish and English. We plan to educate our children in Greece. They are Greeks and they will be raised here."

"Oh, yes, we plan a large family. The king loves children. And it makes no difference to me whether our next child is a boy or a girl."

Under an amendment to the constitution adopted in 1952, a woman can become monarch.

Anne-Marie has visited orphanages and charitable organizations and has toured the provinces with her husband. She doubtless will do much of this in the future, but her chief role is as a housewife.

"The king and I don't have special tastes," she said. "It varies. We have an international menu served. The chef offers his suggestions and I either approve or disapprove of the menu."

"Occasionally we have Scandinavian smorgasbord, served with dark Danish bread called rugbrød."

"We spend our free hours

"I play with my daughter during the day. Alexia is well taken care of by two nurses, one Greek and the other English."

"The king also plays with Alexia when he's home from the office."

The Greeks have taken their queen to heart and show it every time she makes a public appearance. This is a two-way love affair which the queen reflects in her statements:

House Panel Passes New Bill for GIs

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new GI bill offering permanent education and loan benefits for men and women serving in the armed forces was approved Thursday by the House Veterans Committee.

The bill would affect immediately 3.5 million veterans who served since early in 1955, the date benefits for Korean War veterans ended.

The first-year cost for the bill was estimated at $335 million, far more than the administration has proposed. The administration is backing a bill that would limit benefits to veterans who served in dangerous areas.

The bill would provide: —Up to 36 months of education or training, on the basis of one month for each month spent in the service.

—Allowances of $100 a month for single veterans, $125 for veterans with one dependent, and $150 for veterans with more than one dependent.

—Home loan guarantees of up to $7,500, with direct loans of up to $17,500 where private financing is not available.

U.S. GIs in Berlin Get Along OK With Russians, Not East Germans

BERLIN (AP)—They drive cars with American flags and Russian letters on their license plates that read, "American Military Mission." They operate by agreement with the Soviet Union but often are chased by East German police.

The man who commands them is a slight, blond U.S. Army Colonel who dives out of airplanes for amusement and who drives a sports car that outrun anything the East German police have.

The unit is the U.S. military liaison mission to Soviet forces in Communist East Germany, commanded by Col. Paul G. Skowronek. His headquarters is in nearby Potsdam, East Germany, in a villa originally built for a Hohenzollern prince in 1910.

Skowronek rarely speaks in public about his job, but he told a meeting of the West Berlin chapter of the Association of the U.S. Army about some of his experiences.

In January 1964, a U.S. Air Force jet trainer was shot down by a Communist fighter plane over East Germany and three Americans were killed. The U.S. plane had strayed from the air corridor which connects West Berlin and West Germany.

"In this case," he declared, "our teams encountered Communist efforts to keep them from the crash site, but we later were escorted by the Soviets to recover the three charred bodies and evacuate the wrecked aircraft."

Last June an East German mob stormed the mission's lake-side headquarters just outside Potsdam. The mob protested U.S. Viet Nam actions.

Demonstrators snapped a flag pole, desecrated an American flag, smashed the building's window, wrecked the first floor and overturned a mission car. Airman I.C. Thomas L. Voss, 22, Mila, Ind., was alone in the building. He later received the Airman's Medal for his heroism in repulsing mob members who tried to enter a second-floor window.

Usually action taken by East Germans against mission personnel happens out in the hinterland when mission teams tour the countryside. By agreement with the Soviets, mission personnel may travel without escort throughout East Germany, except in military restricted areas.

A repeated East German harassing tactic is to try to block a mission car, hemming it in between East German vehicles. Since the United States, like the other Western allies, does not recognize the East German government, the Americans refuse to deal with the East Germans and demand that a Soviet officer be brought to the scene.

Because East German police like to follow mission cars, Skowronek often drives his own 1964 sports car. He says it can do 135 miles an hour and can outrun the special sedans the East Germans use to follow U.S. mission personnel. Mission teams usually drive custom-built olive-drab sedans that can negotiate all types of road surfaces, a capability that enables the Americans to move over normally inaccessible terrain.

Skowronek, a 1941 West Point graduate, sometimes travels to European countries to take part in sports parachuting exhibitions, an avocation he began while at Ft. Knox, Ky.

He has volunteered to go to Viet Nam when his assignment ends in June.

About 65 per cent of the nation's high school graduates do not attend college.

Censorship Try at OSU Is Deplored

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Any attempt to coerce or censor the Ohio State University student newspaper would be "most unwise," the chairman of the journalism school's professional advisory council said today.

"Any attempt, direct or indirect, to use the Lantern as a house organ for the administration would severely damage the university's image as a center of intellectual freedom which rejects thought control," the chairman, Philip W. Porter, executive editor of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, said in a statement.

Porter said he was pleased to read a Jan. 21 comment by University President Novice G. Fawcett "that he did not intend any coercion of the Lantern through budget review."

A student group started an investigation of what it called the "free press" situation on campus after a member of the Journalism Advisory Council, Eugene King of New York City, wrote a national magazine con-

So if you're 7'1" tall like Wilt, our car is not for you.

But maybe you're a mere 6'7". In which case, you're small enough to appreciate what a big thing we've made of the VW.

There's more headroom than you'd expect. (Over 37 1/2" from seat to roof.) And more legroom in front than you'd get in a limousine. Because the engine's tucked over the rear wheels where it's out of the way and where it can give the most traction.

You can put 2 medium-sized suitcases up front where the engine isn't, and 3 fair-sized kids in the back seat. And you can sleep an enormous infant in back of the back seat.

Dear Abby: Oh, for Heaven's Sake!

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: There are 365 days in the year, right? So will you please tell me why my sister had to pick the day of MY wedding anniversary for HER wedding date? Don't tell me she forgot, because she was my maid of honor and she knew perfectly well that that was my wedding date.

Now all of my future wedding anniversaries will have to be shared with her.

BURNED UP
DEAR ABBY: Even though you are burned up, don't make an ash of yourself by voicing your disapproval.

DEAR ABBY: About four years ago my sister-in-law gave us an old beat-up baby bed she had had in her basement for ten years. My husband sanded it down, painted it and fixed it up like new, and we used it until our baby was four years old. Then we traded it along with a lot of other odds and ends on a new set of bedroom furniture for the child's room. My sister-in-law heard about it and demanded that we get the baby bed back for her. (She had no use for it, she just wanted to start trouble.) Of course, by then it was too late. Well, she has a very big mouth, so she spread it all over the family and different ones took sides, and now there are lots of hard feelings. I admit I should have asked her before getting rid of it, but honestly, Abby, I had no idea she wanted it back. How can I patch up this mess?

FAMILY ROW
DEAR ABBY: Ask her how much she thinks the bed was worth, and insist that she take the cash. Even if it's expensive, it will suit her big mouth, and that's worth something.

DEAR ABBY: One of my best friends has a heart as big as this world. She knows what it is like to be forsaken, so she has been attempting to provide a home for forsaken animals. How can I tell her tactfully that she cannot keep a house full of cats? Abby, the odor is indescribable. She works, the house is closed all day, the smell comes through the walls. The odor clings to her clothing. Whew! I am afraid she will lose her job. These cats have not been "doctored" and they are producing more cats, which in turn produce still more cats; cats which have never seen the outdoors! Her kindness to these poor animals is misplaced. Her nose must be numb. What can be done?

HER FRIEND
DEAR FRIEND: Both the Department of Public Health and the Humane Society should be called to investigate the living quarters of your friend. And a mental examination is very much in order for her. She has a "good" heart, but I fear the trouble is in her head, poor soul.

CONFIDENTIAL TO WORKED MOTHER IN AGUSTA, GA.: Don't worry. If an American serviceman wants to marry a Vietnamese girl, he must first obtain the permission of his commanding officer. His fiancée is then checked for security by the U.S. Embassy in Saigon. She must also be cleared by the Vietnamese police, which issues certificates of "good conduct" to approved prospective brides. A very small percentage of American GI's actually marry native girls.

Weekly Food Review

NEW YORK (AP)—Weather poked an icy finger through food budgets this week, cutting supplies and raising prices in some areas.

"Everything has been up since the blizzard Sunday night," a New York wholesaler said. Referring to the big storm that brought snow and severe cold to the South and East.

"There is little merchandise available. Railroad tracks have been blocked, and trucks haven't been able to get through. It is reflected in all produce prices this week. All commodities out of Florida are likely to be up four or five weeks, or until people get tired of paying high prices and turn to canned food," he said.

Freezing weather damaged crops in Florida and Texas, and heavy snows cut movement of food supplies throughout the East and Midwest. They came after bad weather in California and Arizona.

The freeze in Florida was the worst since 1962. About 58 million boxes of oranges and 20 million of grapefruit still remain to be harvested.

Some canners, anticipating a heavy crop loss, raised frozen orange juice concentrate prices at once.

Potatoes, tomatoes, cucumbers, squash, sweet corn, young sugar cane, watermelons and strawberries suffered extensive damage.

Weather also slowed the citrus harvest in the Rio Grande Valley of Texas.

Heavy snow curtailed movement of potatoes and eggs to New York and Chicago. Egg prices went up 2 to 4 cents a dozen in New York.

Four hundred animals of 46 types have been collected for the new Gremen, Germany, Zoo, which opened last September.

Interesting New Products Help Speed Chores

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

We'd be willing to wager that this is the time of year when housewares and home appliances sell best.

It figures, because the spirit of resolution that marked the New Year is still upon us and getting the home shipshape is uppermost in a woman's mind.

Any number of new products are available to make work easier and speed chores. Among them are these:

Lightweight Vacuum: If your arm is weary of pushing around a heavyweight vacuum, a 9-pound upright model that cleans with ease in a breeze is worth looking into.

The vacuum's disposable dust bag is more than twice the size of the bag featured in other units.

Powered by deep-down rug cleaning, the model can be hung on a hook for flat-against-the-wall storage.

Glue Gun: Plug in a handy-dandy new glue gun and prepare to shoot away at various household jobs. The gun, which operates on the hotmelt principle, replaces virtually all other forms of adhesives and is particularly effective on wood, plastic, fabrics, leather and paper.

The gun is loaded with glue "bullets" that are reduced to quick-flow liquid in the gun's melting chamber. About 60 seconds after the glue is applied and the other piece joined, a strong waterproof bond is completed.

No - Iron Bed Linens: Two pressing problems—sheets and pillowcases—are solved by a new fine percale weave fabric that is 50 per cent polyester fiber and 50 per cent combed cotton. It is specially finished and cured to provide built-in wrinkle-resistance.

So far, the fabric is available in white twin and full-size sheets in fitted or flat styles and in pillowcases. These may be machine-washed at high temperatures and then may be tumble-dried.

Cordless Knife: The most popular new small appliance of all, the electric knife, is now available in a cordless design that operates on three batteries and comes with a battery-recharging storage unit.

The knife can carve a 28-pound turkey, a 4-pound roast and tackle other everyday carving needs before it needs recharging. It produces 1,950 strokes per minute.

Mends Crockery: A new glass and ceramic adhesive saves the day when you chip china, pottery or glassware. It can even be used on ovenware.

Once dry, the repair is long-lasting, as the adhesive is resistant to both heat and water and won't discolor with age.

Creates Storage Space: Look in the notions department and you'll find a steel chest of drawers that's just the neat, narrow size (20 inches) needed to fit into a closet.

Available either 28 inches high with 4 (12-inch deep) drawers or 34 inches high with six drawers, the chest comes with a baked-on finish of gold flecked with black, bronze-tone or white.

The chest serves well in a child's closet or can be used in an adult closet when hanging space above it is utilized for short apparel, such as blouses or suits. It's also ideal for a bathroom, sewing room or other area where storage space is needed.

Look for these and other proved household aids when you're shopping. There's always something new coming along. If you're lucky, the something new you spot might be the very something that heads your just-what-I-need list.

Soviet Lunar Success Puts Pressure on U.S.

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — With the successful soft landing of Luna 9, the Russians apparently have proved that man can safely explore the moon. They also put added pressure on America's troubled Surveyor program, which hopes to make a similar landing in May.

Until Luna 9 settled gently onto the dry, relatively flat Ocean of Storms Thursday, scientists were divided on whether the moon's surface could support a landing.

Some felt the surface might be a thick layer of dust or a fragile honeycomb structure that would swallow a heavy spacecraft.

But Luna 9 touched down and established firm radio contact with Soviet ground stations, demonstrating that — no matter what the surface is made of — the Russians have designed a spaceship capable of surviving.

Any photographs and information which the spacecraft sends back will help in development of a manned lunar landing vehicle.

Space officials at Cape Kennedy praised the Soviet success and conceded it had given them a lead in this phase of the man-to-moon race.

But they said it did not necessarily mean the Russians had gained the over-all lead in the lunar sweepstakes. They noted the United States leads in many areas in its drive to land astronauts on the moon by 1970. Included are most manned space flight time, longest flights, medical data, space rendezvous and maneuverable spacecraft.

The Soviet Union holds a slight edge in rocket power, and the two nations are even in manned space walks.

Other goals must be achieved before men venture to the moon. A key one is the joining of two vehicles in space, which the United States hopes to do with the Gemini 8 flight in March.

Because of the great secrecy surrounding Soviet efforts, it is difficult to assess who is ahead. It has been nearly a year since the last Soviet cosmonaut went aloft. In that period 10 American astronauts have rocketed into space.

But, as one rocket expert noted, "They could have a 20-man spacecraft on the pad right now, and we wouldn't know about it until after it was launched."

U.S. officials hope the Russians remove the secrecy veil from what Luna 9 reveals. If they do, it would help American planning for the Apollo man-to-moon ship and also take some of the heat off the Surveyor program.

But the Russians have been reluctant to share information. They often have linked cooperation in outer space with an agreement on total disarmament.

Even if the Russians released all the data that Luna 9 records, the United States probably would proceed with the Surveyor landings, seven of which are planned in an 18-month period.

All seven are identical, and officials hope one or more will succeed. They are confident the Apollo landing gear is capable of landing safely on flat sections of the moon. But they will not risk a manned voyage to the moon until they know for sure. They noted the Russians had failed in at least four attempts to make a soft landing before Luna 9 succeeded.

The Surveyors will carry television cameras and gauges to measure the bearing strength of the lunar landscape.

The first Surveyor originally was to have been launched in 1963. But the program has encountered numerous problems that prompted a congressional committee recently to term it "one of the least orderly and most poorly executed of NASA projects."

First, there was trouble with the Atlas-Centaur booster rocket. Then the spacecraft hit a series of technical snags and has yet to fly.

Rep. Joseph E. Karth, D-Minn., of the House Space Committee, recently headed an investigation of the program. He blamed the troubles mainly on poor management but said that most problems had been corrected, and he was confident the first Surveyor would head toward the moon in May.

Ohio Marine Heads Drive To Aid Kids

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Marine who's "in love with the children of Viet Nam" is being aided by his fellow Ohioans in an effort to help the underprivileged youngsters.

It started when Cpl. Charles R. Fingley of Springboro, Ohio, wrote a letter to the editor of the Western Star at Lebanon, Ohio, asking his Warren County friends to send him items the children needed.

The list included paper, pencils, tooth brushes, toothpaste and soap.

So the students of Clearcreek Local School at Springboro went into action and gathered the items—three tons of them.

Everything seemed to be going well but a problem developed for Ray Perez, executive head at Clearcreek. Not knowing how to get the shipment to Viet Nam, he telephoned his congressman, Rep. Clarence Brown Jr.

Brown said Thursday he had learned that the Navy would take the gifts from Norfolk, Va., to Viet Nam.

Brown said officials at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton agreed to have the gifts flown to Norfolk when packaging is completed.

24 Railroad Cars Derail Near Carey

CAREY, Ohio (AP)—Part of a 66-car freight train derailed near here early today, and the train's lead engine stopped just 20 feet short of a bridge, the Wyandot County Sheriff's Office reported.

The two engines pulling the Akron, Canton and Youngstown Railroad freight went off the tracks but stayed upright, going over 200 feet on the railroad ties before stopping on the brink of a fall into Tymochtee Creek deputies said.

Twenty-four cars derailed, and many of them overturned. They included boxcars, gondolas carrying stone and two tankers carrying caustic soda.

All five crew members escaped injury.

Engineer C. L. Bohn of Delphos said the train was going about 35-40 miles an hour at the time of the derailment. It was eastbound.

The sheriff's office said there was evidence that a section of broken track caused the accident.

Kingston News Report

By Miss Margaret Thomas

Kingston is still rather shaken by the Thursday afternoon fire in the business section. The loss was heavy for quite a few people. The village is thankful for such wonderful cooperation from neighboring communities, without which the fire could have been more widespread. The community also is grateful that no lives were lost.

The WSCS of the Methodist Church will hold a Market and Bake Sale at the Library on Lincoln's Birthday, Feb. 12.

The regular meeting of the WSCS will be held Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 9, at the home of Mrs. W. R. Sunderland.

Several members of Kingston Chapter, OES, attended the School of Instruction at Circleville. Present were Mrs. Frank Graves, Mrs. Leslie Dearth, Mrs. Harold Wright, Mrs. William Meadows, Mrs. Herbert Lemley, Mrs. W. S. Rhoades, Mrs. W. R. Sunderland and Mrs. Carl V. Hohenstein.

The regular meeting of the local chapter was held in the Masonic Temple, Wednesday evening. Routine business was on the agenda.

The Initiatory work and the chapter birthday celebration to honor past matrons and patrons was rescheduled for Feb. 7 at a special meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Locke and children of Canton are spending the weekend in Kingston with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Rhoades.

Mrs. Ira Korst of Harbor Hills was in Kingston on Tuesday and spent the night with her sister, Mrs. Bernice Immell.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lyons took their daughter, Kathy, to Ohio University Monday where she enrolled and began the second semester of her sophomore year on campus. She had been attending the Branch at Chillicothe.

Mrs. John Waters of Circleville and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Waters and children, Mike and Gayle of Columbus spent the weekend with Mrs. Dwight Davies, Jim and Kristi.

Dwight Davis and Charles David Betz, who drove their mothers to Sarasota, Fla., about 10 days ago, returned home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Albert and Shawn of Columbus spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Minor. Mr. Albert returned on Monday for classes at Ohio State University. Mrs. Albert and Shawn remained here for the week.

School was dismissed early Tuesday afternoon because of snow. All schools were closed on Wednesday. This gave the boys a chance to pick up a little extra money by shoveling snow. Streets were almost deserted and edged by high banks of snow.

NEW YORK (AP) — Garry Moore, Mary Martin, Danny Thomas, Jerry Lewis and Simone Signoret are some of the stars who will appear in special television programs the next seven days.

Moore will host an ABC special tonight, "People Poll" (10-11 EST) which will present a test-yourself show designed to show the viewer how his taste and habits agree with those of the average. Earlier in the evening (8:30-9:30) Jerry Lewis will host NBC's "Sammy Davis Jr. Show" in the absence of the star.

Danny Thomas will have another of his NBC specials Sunday evening (7:30 - 8:30), this one called "My Home Town." He will be assisted by Mitzi Gaynor, Jim ("Gomer Pyle") Nabors and the singing team of Sonny and Cher.

An NBC special built around the international tour of the show "Hello, Dolly!" and starring Mary Martin will be broadcast Monday (9-10 p.m.).

CBS will devote its Tuesday night Actuality Hour (10-11) to a documentary on the teenager. It is called "Sixteen in Webster Groves."

Bob Hope's Wednesday night show on NBC will be "A Small Rebellion" with Simone Signoret and George Maharis. It was the show originally scheduled for Jan. 12 but pre-empted for President Johnson's State of the Union address.

Pennsylvania Avenue in Washington recently was designated as a National Historic Site.

Instruments In Catholic Rites Curbed

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Roman Catholic Diocese has forbidden use of popular or folk songs in religious services and tightened control over use of any instrument in church other than the organ or silver trumpet.

Coadjutor Bishop Clarence G. Isenmann, in a letter to all priests of the diocese Thursday, listed guidelines covering a wide range of liturgical observances. Among them was the control of instruments.

Some high school and college students, along with some priests and nuns, felt the control was aimed at the use of the guitar at masses during retreats.

There also was response from students who have used folk songs in masses and other worship services.

"It's a shame it had to come to this," said one priest. "The situation should be analyzed on a particular need because of the good that comes from the selected use of the guitar."

A chancery spokesman said the door still is open to the use of guitars or other instruments but written request for the use of any instrument other than the organ or trumpet must be forwarded to the chancery. "They will be studied for their merits," the spokesman added.

Hollywood Gossip Queens Disappear from Scene

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It was an oddity of fate that the two reigning queens of Hollywood journalism should have been removed from the local scene precisely two months apart.

On Dec. 1, the name of Louella Parsons was removed from the column she had conducted for 40 years. The ailing columnist, confined to a rest home, was supplanted by her longtime associate Dorothy Manners.

On Feb. 1, death came to the seemingly ageless Hedda Hopper, who had successfully challenged Mrs. Parsons' rule as social arbiter of the film colony.

For 20-odd years they had ruled on separate thrones, each jealous of her own domain, each ready to deal out punishment to those who sought favor with the opposite queen.

Their reigns were despotic, yet curiously benevolent.

Mrs. Parsons — for that was the name of her first husband — imposed her will with a smiling face and iron hand, ever ready to punish those who did not deal her exclusive stories.

Mrs. Hopper — it was the name of her only husband — didn't smile when she lacerated her enemies. They were many, since she opposed those who indulged in liberal politics.

Both conducted fierce defenses of Hollywood's reputation and were quick to chastise those who transgressed the moral code. Both were castigated for mother-hen provincialism and ridiculed for misuse of the language. Yet they added to the color of a glamorous age which is, alas, very nearly at an end.

Who shall replace the Mmes. Parsons and Hopper?

Probably no one. Their successors are pretenders to thrones that no longer exist. Gone are the days when Hollywood was a tight little town that ruled the entertainment world, and hence could be ruled by lady columnists.

Show business is now too diffuse and too diverse to be centralized in one sun-ridden California community. The movie sphere now spreads from Hollywood and Vine to Rome's Cinecittà to the studios of Tokyo. Television is a giant that defies control.

Soviet Lunar Success Puts Pressure on U.S.

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — With the successful soft landing of Luna 9, the Russians apparently have proved that man can safely explore the moon. They also put added pressure on America's troubled Surveyor program, which hopes to make a similar landing in May.

Until Luna 9 settled gently onto the dry, relatively flat Ocean of Storms Thursday, scientists were divided on whether the moon's surface could support a landing.

Some felt the surface might be a thick layer of dust or a fragile honeycomb structure that would swallow a heavy spacecraft.

But Luna 9 touched down and established firm radio contact with Soviet ground stations, demonstrating that — no matter what the surface is made of — the Russians have designed a spaceship capable of surviving.

Any photographs and information which the spacecraft sends back will help in development of a manned lunar landing vehicle.

Space officials at Cape Kennedy praised the Soviet success and conceded it had given them a lead in this phase of the man-to-moon race.

But they said it did not necessarily mean the Russians had gained the over-all lead in the lunar sweepstakes. They noted the United States leads in many areas in its drive to land astronauts on the moon by 1970. Included are most manned space flight time, longest flights, medical data, space rendezvous and maneuverable spacecraft.

The Soviet Union holds a slight edge in rocket power, and the two nations are even in manned space walks.

Other goals must be achieved before men venture to the moon. A key one is the joining of two vehicles in space, which the United States hopes to do with the Gemini 8 flight in March.

Because of the great secrecy surrounding Soviet efforts, it is difficult to assess who is ahead. It has been nearly a year since the last Soviet cosmonaut went aloft. In that period 10 American astronauts have rocketed into space.

But, as one rocket expert noted, "They could have a 20-man spacecraft on the pad right now, and we wouldn't know about it until after it was launched."

U.S. officials hope the Russians remove the secrecy veil from what Luna 9 reveals. If they do, it would help American planning for the Apollo man-to-moon ship and also take some of the heat off the Surveyor program.

Arlington Burial For Ohio GI Sought

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — "He knew it would be dangerous and he told me if anything happened he wanted to be buried in Arlington Cemetery."

Mrs. Esther Bair recalled her husband's words after getting the news she said she had "feared, but half expected" since he went overseas last August.

Her husband, Spec. 6 Charles J. Bair, 30, was killed Saturday when his helicopter was shot down in Viet Nam.

Now Mrs. Bair is waiting to learn whether his request for burial in the national cemetery in Washington can be honored.

Ancient Dervishes Whirl To Purify Their Souls

KONYA, Turkey (AP) — Their flowing robes represent their shrouds, their hats denote their tombstones, and their shirts symbolize their graves.

With arms outstretched they whirl incessantly to the slow tempo of ancient music until it purifies their souls to help them reach unity with God.

For the Whirling Dervishes, materialism is banal and temporary, while love of God is the ultimate and everlasting goal.

The Whirling Dervishes of the Mevlevi order were founded seven centuries ago in this Anatolian city by Mevlana Celaleddin Rumi — which means "Our Master Celaleddin the Anatolian."

He has been described as a philosopher, scholar and the greatest Turkish mystic poet. His works have been translated into many languages.

Rembrandt could not resist painting his portrait even 400 years after Mevlana's death. A. J. Arberry, a British Orientalist, judged him as "one of the world's greatest mystic poets." He has inspired hundreds of scholars, composers, artists and poets.

"When I die," Mevlana said, "there will be a marriage. Run, play, call everyone. For though it is death on this side, it is birth on the other."

And in compliance with his appeal, a commemoration ceremony, if not a marriage, is held here every year in December to honor the death of the order's founder.

Last December more than 100,000 Turks and foreigners thronged into this ancient capital of the Seljuk Empire to attend the week-long celebrations honoring the 692nd anniversary of Mevlana's death.

There are reportedly about 10 million Mevlevis throughout the Middle East, including Syria, Iraq, Iran and Egypt. Four million followers are in Turkey.

Though outlawed by Kemal Ataturk — founder of modern Turkey — since the establishment of the Republic of Turkey in 1923, the Whirling Dervishes were allowed to whirl publicly in exhibition dances by the late Premier Adnan Menderes in 1953.

The Whirling Dervishes, with their right hand turned upward and their left palm down, spin as an orchestra plays the ancient Mevlevi music. The position of the hands signifies taking from God and giving to man — or the rejection of materialism and belief in spiritual values.

The Whirling Dervishes have high hats that look like stretched-out fezes, and flowing robes which fan out as they turn counterclockwise. Their whirling is called "sema," which means "sky" or "heaven" in Persian, and symbolizes the planets revolving around the sun — and this connotes "man in search of God."

From 20 to 25 Whirling Dervishes spin on the floor to the accompaniment of an orchestra of flutes, violins and drums. There are sad tunes reminiscent of Mevlana's time. The session ends with a prayer, usually sung by a man of religion with a touching voice that carries the audience away.

Local Baha'i Group Lists Weekly Thought

The following is from Baha'i teachings: "The spirit which animated the Prophets of ancient times has again spoken to man through the Prophet, Baha' u'llah, inspiring his words with such truth that every sincere person can say to himself:

"Religion is not dead; it is reborn. Religion is not something for primitive people living only simple lives; it is a world-unifying principle, a majestic world plan for the redemption of a stricken society."

"The Baha'i teachings speak to the soul of man, summoning him to serve in a supreme crusade to establish peace and justice through divine Law."

Long Memories

CLAY, Ky. (AP) — W. W. Johnson, operator of a grocery here for nearly 50 years, has learned it's never too late for a customer to settle an account.

On Jan. 1, 1925, a customer gave him a $75 note to cover a charge account he was unable to pay. The note was worthless since the customer left the state and couldn't be traced.

Recently, Johnson received a check to settle the account.

One Man Looks At The World ...

... and it makes him sick!

Another looks at the world and his heart stirs with hope.

The first has seen only the world itself ... full of evil, injustice, ugliness, pain.

The second has seen more than the world. He has seen God ... Who is not content with the world as it is ... Who offers men the spiritual tools with which to change their earthly environment ... Who promises divine help and lasting reward.

For the man who is tired of scowling at life the Church has a message ... and a mission.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

God Is a Living Spirit

THE WORK OF THE HOLY SPIRIT IN THE LIVES OF BELIEVERS

Scripture—John 16:7-15; Acts 2:1-4; Romans 8:9-27; 1 John 4:13-21.

By R. H. RAMSEY
Probably the most glorious message of the Bible, both in the Old and New Testaments, is that God treats us not with justice alone, but primarily with love. As the waiting, loving father went forth to meet the Prodigal Son with arms opened wide in welcome and a heart opened in forgiveness, so God meets us—sinners and rebels—against His sovereign power. God is the redeemer, and in spite of our sin He forgives us and has sent His Son, Christ Jesus, to lead us back into the ways of righteousness and obedience.

The God who does this is a living Spirit. And when this Spirit comes into the life of a believer the miracle of redemption takes place.

Believing Jesus to be the long-promised Messiah, the disciples could not accept His death, though He prepared them for it, talking about it and the Holy Spirit more and more frequently as the time approached. They had to see Him risen in the flesh, linger with Him forty days, and then see Him ascend into heaven before they understood even a small part of the significance of His death.

"Hereby know we that we dwell in him, and he in us, because he hath given us of his Spirit."—1 John 4:13.

As He left His disciples, Christ assured them He would send them a "Comforter" to "reprove the world of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgment." This Comforter would become an inner conscience speaking to all, rebuking our unbelief, teaching us the nature of true righteousness, warning us of the coming judgment upon all evil. Jesus had to leave the earth before the Comforter could be sent and the full cycle of God's purpose be accomplished.

After the Resurrection, Jesus told the disciples to remain in Jerusalem until the Holy Spirit came upon them. Forty days passed and the disciples assembled to celebrate the Feast of the Pentecost in the upper room of a Jerusalem home. Suddenly the Spirit of God was upon them; a sound from heaven as of a rushing, mighty wind filled the room; the disciples, realizing that something of great spiritual significance was taking place, felt an outpouring of spiritual power. God Is a Living Spirit

THE WORK OF THE HOLY SPIRIT IN THE LIVES OF BELIEVERS

Scripture—John 16:7-15; Acts 2:1-4; Romans 8:9-27; 1 John 4:13-21.

By R. H. RAMSEY

Probably the most glorious message of the Bible, both in the Old and New Testaments, is that God treats us not with justice alone, but primarily with love. As the waiting, loving father went forth to meet the Prodigal Son with arms opened wide in welcome and a heart opened in forgiveness, so God meets us—sinners and rebels against His sovereign power. God is the redeemer, and in spite of our sin He forgives us and has sent His Son, Christ Jesus, to lead us back into the ways of righteousness and obedience.

The God who does this is a living spirit, and when this Spirit comes into the life of a believer the miracle of redemption takes place.

Believing Jesus to be the long-promised Messiah, the disciples could not accept His death, though He prepared them for it, talking about it and the Holy Spirit more and more frequently as the time approached. They had to see Him risen in the flesh, linger with Him forty days, and then see Him ascend

We see here a phenomenon of vast proportions and significance. The living Spirit of God descended upon men's hearts, bestowing upon them divine power to become witnesses of Christ, in either their own tongue or tongues foreign to them. This was the Christian Church founded, miraculously and under the direct power of God's Holy Spirit.

In his letter to the Romans Paul writes, "Therefore, brethren, we are debtors, not to the flesh, to live after the flesh. For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die; but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live. For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are sons of God." These three verses summarize the teachings of the passages from Romans included in our lesson.

God intends that we develop as spiritual beings until our into heaven before they understood even a small part of the significance of His death.

As He left His disciples, Christ assured them He would send them a "Comforter" to "reprove the world of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgment." This Comforter would become an inner conscience speaking to all, rebuking our unbelief, teaching us the nature of true righteousness, warning us of the coming judgment upon all evil. Jesus had to leave the earth before the Comforter could be sent and the full cycle of God's purpose be accomplished.

After the Resurrection, Jesus told the disciples to remain in Jerusalem until the Holy Spirit came upon them. Forty days passed and the disciples assembled to celebrate the Feast of the Pentecost in the upper room of a Jerusalem home. Suddenly the Spirit of God was upon them; a sound from heaven as of a rushing, mighty wind filled the room; the disciples, realizing that something of great spiritual significance was taking place, felt an outpouring of spiritual power. Cloven tongues

"The Sound of Music" was the lovely theme of this year's annual Sweetheart Dance which was held last Saturday night in the CHS gymnasium. Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia Music Fraternity from Cincinnati provided the music.

In spite of snow and freezing weather, which usually occurs about the time of this dance, approximately 280 people turned out.

Many vivid colors were used in the theme. Walls were decorated with musical notes of all colors. One wall had the words "The Sound of Music" written in royal blue and bright pink on it. The band shell, consisted of a mountain scene.

At 10:15 came the coronation of the queen. Attendants were announced first: Kay McDonald, escorted by Jim Archer, and Diane Tracy, escorted by John Hatcher. Queen of the 1966 Sweetheart Dance was Susan Butz, who was escorted by Bill Brock. Crown bearers were Misty Sarchet and Brad Snouffer.

New Students Interviewed

By MELISSA WILLOUGHBY and CAROLYN LEIST

Debbie Shea, a freshman, and Pam Martin, a sophomore, are new students at CHS this year.

Tall, blue eyed, Debbie hails from St. Joseph School. High-spirited Debbie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Shea, 515 Edgewood Drive.

Enrolled in the classical

course, her favorite subjects are Latin and algebra. She is a valuable member of the Circleville Swim Team, on which she has earned merits for outstanding racing. She is also a member of the 4-H Club.

Setting her hair, taking algebra tests, and unfriendly people are a few of Debbie's dislikes. However, she does like pizza, charm bracelets, coal-black hair and boys. She enjoys watching "Gidget," "UNCLE," and listening to the radio. Her odd habit's are biting her nails and taking her glasses on and off.

Her opinion of CHS is — "It's about the greatest school I've ever been to."

Brown-haired, hazel eyed, Pam came to Circleville from Horace Mann HS in Charleston, W. Va. She and her parents, Mr.

PAM MARTIN

and Mrs. Arnold Martin, reside at 1057 Georgia Road. Her course of study is classical. After graduation her plans are as follows: "A friend and I plan to tour Europe, then attend college." She is a member of the band and captain of a bowling league.

Florida, swimming, Batman, Mexico, and Disneyland are among her likes. She doesn't like commercials, fire bells and sad evenings.

This is Pam's opinion of CHS — "I like CHS and find it to be the welcome wagon of Pickaway County."

Sandy Ramey, Susan Crites, Lynne Hughes and Sally Whaley are to be commended for their typing and copyreading services to get the Red and Black news in ahead of schedule because of the inclement weather.

Teen Years Are Difficult

By BARB GRIFFITH

The teenage years have been called the years of "storm and stress." It is a time of life when many young people are branded awkward and clumsy. It is often said that teenagers want privileges, but not the responsibilities that go with them.

It is true that a few teenagers are awkward and clumsy, and few want privileges without responsibilities. But the majority of teens are not like this. We are human and have feelings just as adults do. We are inexperienced and emotional. We want love. We want understanding! If we get love, we'll do our best to return it.

It is really sometimes hard to believe that parents were once teenagers. They seem to forget so easily how we say some things we don't want to, but can hardly stop ourselves. We want to be good to our parents as they have been to us. But the most insignificant of remarks from a parent can trigger off a force inside of a teen that will explode without a moment's notice.

We want you parents to know that we do love you; even if we tend to gripe and grumble; even if we go moody on you; even if we tell you, you are the most unreasonable parents in the world. You're not. We don't really think that. We just say it because it is the "universal law" for teenagers to be difficult without knowing why.

And a word to you parents with younger children! Don't wait until your child begins his teenage life to start training. Start now before it is too late! He will thank you for it later.

Proposed Mental Health Clinic Topic of Session

By BARB GRIFFITH

Richard Fisher, guidance counselor at CHS, spoke to sociology classes last Friday about a proposed mental health clinic.

This non-profit corporation will be called the Scioto-Point Valley Guidance Center and will be located in Chillicothe. The idea started at Chillicothe in 1961. Pickaway, Fayette, Pike, and Highland counties are now working with Ross County on the project.

There are three representatives from each county on the 15-man board of directors. The three from Pickaway County are Wayne Hines, Dr. Manuel Sangulilly, and Mr. Fisher. The board must include a minister, a doctor and a lawyer. The president of the board is Dr. N. A. Williams, a psychiatrist from Chillicothe. The vice-president is James Rose of Washington Court House. The treasurer is Robert Shanks from Hillsboro. Mr. Fisher is secretary.

In his talk, Mr. Fisher pointed out that there is no public mental health facility for emotional illness between Columbus and the Ohio River. There are some state hospitals, and several centers for the mentally retarded. But for help, one must resort to psychiatric counseling, mental health clinics in larger cities, or admittance to state hospitals for prolonged care.

There is a great need for a center more readily available to this area. It will be for strictly out-patient treatment to help people with mental or emotional problems.

The two major functions of the clinic will be diagnosis and treatment, and prevention. The staff will work closely with doctors to help early referrals. They will consult with various local agencies, and will speak to various groups and clubs to educate people about mental illness. The first step now is to get a complete staff. This includes a psychiatrist, a psychologist, a social worker, and a clerical helper. The state sets the pay for the staff by the civil service scale.

The total cost will be $54,000. The state will pay $36,000 of this for the staff's salaries, the five counties will furnish the other $18,000 needed for facilities. Pickaway County's share will come to $3,775. Our board of county commissioners will supply this.

The fees charged will be regulated according to the economics of the patient. In some cases, probably, no fee will be charged.

The advantages of this center are: 1. As long as the individual can remain under treatment, but still be productive in his community, it helps the economic status of that community; 2. It will help prevent more serious emotional problems; 3. It will be more readily accessible to those in this area; 4. It will be cheaper to both the individual and the community.

Sociology classes have learned in their studies that one out of every ten Americans will need some kind of psychiatric help in his lifetime. This does not necessarily mean he will receive that help. Certainly, these facts show that there is a great need for a center of this kind in our area. The enthusiastic support of this community is expected.

In Support of February

By GREGG GRIFFITH

Guess what, you lucky people! The great, wonderful and exciting month of February is here.

Naturally, I don't expect that you have the same enthusiasm for this month that I have. In fact, some very informed sources say that the majority of the student body treats February as they would a sickness; something to be endured and gotten rid of. But, I intend to put February in its proper place. Certainly, more important events have occurred in this month than in any other.

On Feb. 2, 1892, the bottle cap was patented by William Paints. The next important date, Feb. 12, is surely recognized by all as the anniversary of an important event. Of course on this day, in 1778, the first puppet show was held in New York City. Feb. 14 is a very important day to all ladies and young girls all over the world, because on this day 162 years ago, the great labor saving apple-parer was patented by Moser Coats.

Did you ladies, also, know that on the 16th of this month, "Nylon" was patented? And just four days later, in 1872, an event occurred which changed the course of dental history; the patenting of a toothpick manufacturing machine.

The date, Feb. 22, signifies the anniversary of an event that has influenced American history from then to the present. That event, ladies and gentlemen, was the introduction of popcorn to the English colonists in 1630.

The last important date of this glorious month, the 27th, is important to men all over the world. On that day, in 1883, the first practical cigar rolling machine was patented.

Oh yes! Here are a few other dates I had almost forgotten. Lincoln's Birthday, the 12th follows Groundhog Day, which occurs on the 2nd. Then Valentine's day comes on the 14th with Washington's birthday and Shrove Tuesday following 8 days later. The next day is known as Ash Wednesday and Lent begins.

I'd almost forgotten! The last day of the month, the 30th, is a national and worldwide holiday dedicated to the Great and Revered King Humu Pompiluis, who added this month to the Roman calendar.

She enjoys watching "Gidget," "UNCLE," and listening to the radio. Her odd habit is biting her nails and taking her glasses on and off.
Her opinion of CHS is — "It's about the greatest school I've ever been to."

Brown-haired, hazel eyed, Pam came to Circleville from Horace Mann HS in Charleston, W. Va. She and her parents, Mr.

Teen Years Are Difficult

By BARB GRIFFITH
The teenage years have been called the years of "storm and stress." It is a time of life when many young people are branded awkward and clumsy. It is often said that teenagers want privileges, but not the responsibilities that go with them.
It is true that a few teenagers are awkward and clumsy, and few want privileges without responsibilities. But the majority of teens are not like this. We are human and have feelings just as adults do. We are inexperienced and emotional. We want love. We want understanding. If we get love, we'll do our best to return it.

It is really sometimes hard to believe that parents were once teenagers. They seem to forget so easily how we say some things we don't want to, but can hardly stop ourselves. We want to be good to our parents as they have been to us. But the most insignificant of remarks from a parent can trigger off a force inside of a teen that will explode without a moment's notice.

We want you parents to know that we do love you; even if we tend to gripe and grumble; even if we tell you, you are the most unreasonable parents in the world. You're not. We don't really think that. We just say it because it is the "universal law" for teenagers to be difficult without knowing why.

And a word to you parents with younger children! Don't wait until your child begins his teenage life to start training. Start now before it is too late! He will thank you for it later.

"The Sound of Music" was the lovely theme of this year's annual Sweetheart Dance which was held last Saturday night in the CHS gymnasium. Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia Music Fraternity from Cincinnati provided the music.

In spite of snow and freezing weather, which usually occurs about the time of this dance, approximately 280 people turned out.

Many vivid colors were used in the theme. Walls were decorated with musical notes of all colors. One wall had the words "The Sound of Music" written in royal blue and bright pink on it. The band shell, consisted of a mountain scene.

At 10:15 came the coronation of the queen. Attendants were announced first: Kay McDonald, escorted by Jim Archer, and Diane Tracy, escorted by John Hatcher. Queen of the 1966 Sweetheart Dance was Susan Butz, who was escorted by Bill Brock. Crown bearers were Misty Sarchet and Brad Snouffer.

Cincy at Odds On Location Of Stadium

CINCINNATI (AP)—Where to build the city's proposed stadium?

The answer is still up in the air as much today as it was when the big drive started in December to build a stadium for the Cincinnati Reds and a pro football team the city is seeking.

William O. DeWitt, owner of the Reds, and the Stadium Steering Committee and city officials, scheduled a meeting today in an attempt to thrash out their differences on a site.

DeWitt said Thursday the "location should be one that is most convenient to the greatest number of fans."

He reportedly favors a site in northern Hamilton County.

The committee is said to favor a downtown site, such as an area next to the Ohio River or in the area of Crosley Field, which is near downtown.

"The selection of a new stadium site is a matter of general importance to the entire community and of particular importance to baseball and football fans," DeWitt said.

"Naturally, any lease signed by the Cincinnati Reds will be subject to the approval of others including its board of directors, members of the Crosley Foundation and other members of the National League," he added.

Unheralded Pros Hold Spotlight in Hope Classic

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Led by Harold Kneece, a personable young man with the nickname of Catfish, the unheralded professionals of golf continued to dominate the $100,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic as play resumed today.

But the 31-year-old Kneece, from Aiken, S.C., and his friends in the front ranks could remember one important point.

There are still 54 holes to be played in this five-day, 90-hole tournament. And such fellows as Arnold Palmer, Bill Casper Jr., and Ken Venturi could make up a lot of ground in the three remaining rounds.

Mets Chief Calls Braves A 'Novelty'

NEW YORK (AP)—Donald Grant, chairman of the board of the New York Mets, testified Thursday that Milwaukee became a poor baseball town when the novelty wore off.

"Is your team a novelty in New York?" asked Willard Stafford, Wisconsin state counsel in cross-examination.

"It sure as hell is," replied Grant.

On that note, the New York phase of the pretrial maneuvering in Wisconsin's antitrust suit against the Braves and the National League ended.

They were to resume taking depositions in Chicago today, with Roy Hofheinz of the Houston Astros next in line.

Grant said he considered baseball dead in Milwaukee at present but later in the testimony said he would view future expansion in 1967, or later, with an open mind.

"They were only interested in the game when it was new and while it (the club) was on the top," Grant said under direct examination by Boie Kuhn, special counsel for baseball.

"In 1964 they made a Herculean effort to sell baseball but the figure reached only 910,000," Grant said. "It was the straw that broke the camel's back."

Now, with the regular season round robin among the 15 OC schools moving into the stretch, Wooster stands 9-2, Akron 8-2, Mount Union 7-2.

Otterbein, 7-3, and Wittenberg, 6-3, make it a five-team scramble.

Cincy at Odds On Location Of Stadium

CINCINNATI (AP)—Where to build the city's proposed stadium?

The answer is still up in the air as much today as it was when the big drive started in December to build a stadium for the Cincinnati Reds and a pro football team the city is seeking.

William O. DeWitt, owner of the Reds, and the Stadium Steering Committee and city officials, scheduled a meeting today in an attempt to thrash out their differences on a site.

DeWitt said Thursday the "location should be one that is most convenient to the greatest number of fans."

He reportedly favors a site in northern Hamilton County.

The committee is said to favor a downtown site, such as an area next to the Ohio River or in the area of Crosley Field, which is near downtown.

"The selection of a new stadium site is a matter of general importance to the entire community and of particular importance to baseball and football fans," DeWitt said.

"Naturally, any lease signed by the Cincinnati Reds will be subject to the approval of others including its board of directors, members of the Crosley

Unheralded Pros Hold Spotlight in Hope Classic

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Led by Harold Kneee, a personable young man with the nickname of Catfish, the unheralded professionals of golf continued to dominate the $100,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic as play resumed today.

But the 31-year-old Kneee, from Aiken, S.C., and his friends in the front ranks could remember one important point.

There are still 54 holes to be played in this five-day, 90-hole tournament. And such fellows as Arnold Palmer, Bill Casper Jr., and Ken Venturi could make up a lot of ground in the three remaining rounds.

Mets Chief Calls Braves A 'Novelty'

NEW YORK (AP)—Donald Grant, chairman of the board of the New York Mets, testified Thursday that Milwaukee became a poor baseball town when the novelty wore off.

"Is your team a novelty in New York?" asked Willard Stanford, Wisconsin state counsel in cross-examination.

"It sure as hell is," replied Grant.

On that tone, the New York phase of the pretrial maneuvering in Wisconsin's antitrust suit against the Braves and the National League ended.

They were to resume taking depositions in Chicago today, with Roy Hofheinz of the Houston Astros next in line.

Grant said he considered baseball dead in Milwaukee at present but later in the testimony said he would view future expansion in 1967, or later, with an open mind.

"They were only interested in the game when it was new and while it (the club) was on the top," Grant said under direct examination by Boie Kuhn, special counsel for baseball.

"In 1964 they made a Herculean effort to sell baseball but the figure reached only $10,000,000," Grant said. "It was the straw that broke the camel's back."

Foundation and other members of the National League," he added.

Kneee, whose nickname stems from his boyhood, when he loved to fish, leads the field by four strokes with successive rounds of 68 for 136.

Tied up at 140 as the third round began was Jack McGowan, with 66-74; R. T. Sikes, 70-70 and Jack Rue, 72-68.

Palmer, with 71-70, was tied at 141 with six other players but his morale may suffer without a distinguished supporter.

That would be former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, who took personal command of Arnie and his Army Thursday at the Eldorado Country Club.

The Eisenhower are wintering at their home overlooking the golf course and Ike followed Palmer for nine holes.

The general, in one of his first appearances in public since his recent heart attack, looked thin but healthy. He wore brown slacks and matching sports jacket and a saucy straw hat, with a feather tacked in the ribbon.

Ike walked all but one of the nine holes — the long, par-5, No. 13 when he climbed into his golf cart — and frequently conversed with Palmer, apparently about Classic strategy.

The general and Palmer had the situation under control for the nine holes they toured together, leaving Palmer two under par. But when Ike left, Palmer was forced to make a truce with par on the nine hole.

Casper, the 1965 Hope winner, slipped to a 73 and was tied at 142 with among others, Al Geiberger and Doug Sanders.

Kneee, who has been on the PGA circuit since 1960, has never won a tournament. But in each of the first two rounds here, he required only 20 putts, and in the second round, playing Indiana Wells, he had only one bogey.

Wichita Proves 'George' Puts Wooster Atop Loop

Big Surprise Shockers Lead Mo-Val League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
"As far as I'm concerned I'll keep saying we're going to win it until we're mathematically eliminated."

That's what Gary Thompson, coach of the Wichita Wheat-shockers, said before the college basketball season opened last Dec. 1.

Hardly anyone took him seriously, yet today Wichita is perched in first place in the tough Missouri Valley Conference. The Shockers gained the top rung by defeating Drake 96-91 before 11,010 at Wichita, Kan., Thursday night.

Wichita won the MVC title last season despite the loss of All-America Dave Stallworth by graduation at midyear. Bradley was the preseason favorite to win the MVC this season, but Thompson refused to concede.

Jamie Thompson, Melvin Reed and Kely Pete, three returnees from last year's club, and sophomore Warren Armstrong sparked Wichita over Drake for the Shockers' 10th victory in 15 games including a 4-2 MVC mark.

Thompson scored 26 points, Reed 20, Pete 19 and Armstrong 15 as well as grabbing 13 rebounds. Their fast break and full-court press put the Shockers ahead to stay after the first five minutes. Harold Jeter's 24 points led the Bulldogs who played without 6-foot-8 Bob Nettolicky recently declared ineligible.

The game was the feature of a slim Thursday program which saw none of the Top Ten teams in The Associated Press poll in action.

Home-court victories were registered by North Carolina over Wake Forest 115-87, Clemson over Furman 107-72, Virginia over Virginia Tech 79-65, Georgetown, D.C., over George Washington 103-74, San Jose over Santa Clara 74-69 and Morehead over Marshall 94-79.

Griffith Given Nod In Bout with Brooks

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Welterweight champion Emile Griffith scored a unanimous 10-round decision Thursday night over 10th-ranked U.S. junior middleweight Johnny Brooks.

Griffith said the fight was part of his campaign for a title match with middleweight champion Dick Tiger.

Griffith weighed 155, Brooks 148. The scoring in favor of Griffith was 46-44, 49-42, 49-43.

Bill Turner scored 23 points and Ken Mackovic 20 for the Zips.

The nation's ninth-ranked

Ohio Conference entries Mar-jetta and Heidelberg beat outside opposition in the Buckeye State's only other action. The American Grid League Planning To Expand

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)—Commissioner Joe Foss predicts that the American Football League will have 14 or 16 teams by 1970.

Foss told a Boston Patriots award dinner Thursday night that his own plan was "to add one team each year." He said, "We've already taken in Miami for 1966 and we'll announce at least one more team and possibly two this spring."

He said "whether the city is Milwaukee, Chicago, Cincinnati or Columbus, Ohio, I think we need a team in the Midwest."

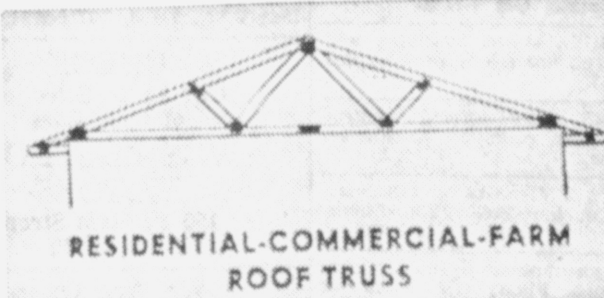

Del Insko led the harness drivers at Yonkers, N. Y., during 1965 with 79 victories in 558 starts.

WHAT DOES
WIDE TRACK MEAN?

I ask the question again, What Is Wide Track? I have been in this business since 1923 and the only underneath measurement I have ever heard is Tread. That means the width from center line to center line of the front tires.

Below is listed the front tread (in inches) of some cars listed in the N.A.D.A. magazine for October 1965 on 66 cars. No car I can find anywhere has a wider Front Track or Tread than does Buick.

BUICK	63.4
Pontiac	63.0
Cadillac	62.5
Olds	62.5
Imperial	61.8
Lincoln	62.1
Chrysler	62.0

There are many more things that enter into the driving and comfort pleasure of a car than the width of tires. Drive any car and then drive a Buick and you will see what we mean. Buick has always been known as the easiest riding and driving car on the market.

WHAT DOES WIDE TRACK MEAN?

I ask the question again, What Is Wide Track? I have been in this business since 1923 and the only underneath measurement I have ever heard is Tread. That means the width from center line to center line of the front tires.

Below is listed the front tread (in inches) of some cars listed in the N.A.D.A. magazine for October 1965 on 66 cars. No car I can find anywhere has a wider Front Track or Tread than does Buick.

BUICK	63.4
Pontiac	63.0
Cadillac	62.5
Olds	62.5
Imperial	61.8
Lincoln	62.1
Chrysler	62.0

There are many more things that enter into the driving and comfort pleasure of a car than the width of tires. Drive any car and then drive a Buick and you will see what we mean. Buick has always been known as the easiest riding and driving car on the market.

And he said he is 85 years old.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Spokesmen for the nation's land-grant colleges have strongly criticized President Johnson's proposal to cut more than $20 million from federal aid to the 68 schools.

The executive committee of the National Association of State Universities and Land-grant Colleges says the cuts represent the salaries of more than 2,000 faculty members.

The cut in teaching grants from $14.5 million to $2.5 million will affect 1,200 faculty members and at least 18,000 students "at a time when enrollments are at an all-time high and students are being denied admission for lack of adequate staff," said Edwin M. Crawford, association executive secretary.

CLEVELAND (AP)—Inheritance tax papers filed in Cleveland show that Western Reserve University medical school will receive nearly $5 million and the Salvation Army will receive some $900,000 dollars from the estate of a former Warren Steel executive.

Tax papers filed Thursday on the estate of Mrs. Layte Thomas, who died June 21, show that the funds come from the balance of an estate left when her husband, Clinton G., died in 1950.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon told Republicans at a $500-a-plate dinner that the GOP will field its best candidates in 20 years next autumn.

"I see Republicans uniting where they were previously divided," he said.

The Indonesian news agency Antara said the students arrived at the U.S. Embassy aboard 40 trucks, demonstrated against the resumption of air raids on North Viet Nam and handed Ambassador Marshall Green a protest note.

Antara said students then rode to the Chinese Embassy but were rebuffed in efforts to deliver a note accusing Peking of harboring Indonesian Communists accused by the army of masterminding the Oct. 1 attempted coup.

ROME (AP)—Premier-designate Aldo Moro appeared to be up a blind alley today in his talks to put a new Cabinet together. President Giuseppe Saragat urged him to hold on while Saragat tried to sort things out with leaders of Parliament.

Clyde Beatty Successor Is Selected

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—Jean Charles Zerbini of Sarasota—husband, father and businessman—drives an air-conditioned car to work each morning and comes home looking like he's been wrestling lions.

He has.

Zerbini, 23, is an eighth-generation lion tamer who will replace the late Clyde Beatty, America's best known animal trainer, in the featured center ring of the touring Shrine Circus this season.

His act with 11 lions has the polish of 200 years—the time his forebears toured Europe and the Mediterranean countries making the name Zerbini synonymous with circus.

Zerbini claims his act is the most daring in the business, capped by throwing a 400-pound lion to the floor of the cage barehanded.

Few who watch it will be inclined to disagree. Coached by his father, Charles, 53, who lost a leg to the cats at age 15, Zerbini is calm as a kindergarten teacher as he puts his animals through their paces—jumping, dancing, and acting as if to devour him.

"You have to show you're not afraid," says Zerbini. "But if he (the lion) is going to breakfast on you he is going to breakfast on you."

"You can train a lion but you cannot tame him."

"Breakthrough for Youth" will be the theme for Boy Scout Week, scheduled Feb. 7-13.

The special week will be observed by 21 Cub Scout Packs, Boy Scout troops and Explorer posts in the Pickaway County District of the Boy Scouts of America. Plans for the 56th anniversary observance were announced by Ben Brian, chairman of the Pickaway District which serves 539 boys in the county.

Sauerkraut Cake Hailed By Governor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Christine Van Cleve set out to bake a sauerkraut cake and Rhodes' promotion of Ohio agricultural products.

Christine, 19, works for the State Development Department, but she insisted that was not why she decided to bake a sauerkraut cake for the governor.

"I guess the idea just came to me," she said Thursday before Rhodes sliced the nine-inch three-layer cake, after posing for pictures by a photographer who just happened to have been called in by Development Director Fred Neuenschwander.

"Hey, this is terrific," exclaimed Rhodes after a sample.

"You can taste the sauerkraut a little," said Christine. "It makes a little different flavor to the chocolate." Yes, chocolate—it's the basic batter for the cake.

"It's real simple," Christine said of her recipe.

You start, naturally, with a cake mix. Use half a cup of sauerkraut per box of mix, wash and drain the kraut, then chop it coarsely. Blend it into the cake batter and bake it like a regular cake only "maybe a little bit longer," she said.
